DIRIGIBLE EXPLORES VAST ARCTIC REGION

GAMBLING IS SUBJECT OF TESTIMONY

Chinese House Head Tells Vancouver Commission He Did Not Pay Police

Detective W. G. Grant Also Witness at Inquiry in Terminal City To-day

Vancouver, May 16.—Sweeping denial of statements made by Joe Yem on Monday and Tuesday that he had paid $50 a month protection money to the police, that he was notified before raids were made and that his gambling paraphernalia was returned after fines imposed in police court had been paid, was made this morning at the Vancouver police inquiry by Chow Wong Lum, partner with Yem in a Chinese gambling house.

The witness explained the $50 a month which he had ordered Joe Yem to enter in the books of the gambling house on Main Street was not for police protection, but for legitimate expenses, including purchase of cigars and drinks for his friends and occasional meals for losers.

The witness swore he had never paid protection money either to Inspector John Jackson or to Detective Sergeant George McLaughlin of the morality department. He declared his books and accounts were returned after raids, but actual gambling paraphernalia was not.

CAUSE OF BREAK

Yesterday Joe Yem testified he had dissolved partnership with Chow Wong Lum when the alleged police protection money was raised from $50 to $200 a month. Chow Wong Lum testified to-day that Yem had quit because of trouble with other help in the gambling house.

OFFER DENIED

The Chinaman also denied he had offered Constable H. H. Duggan, who gave evidence yesterday, the sum of $10 to keep away from a gambling place at 17 Trounce Alley. He testified Constable Duggan had asked him for a Christmas present once and that he had refused.

TESTIMONY ON GAMBLING

Detective W. G. Grant, called as a witness, related an incident when he and Detective McLeod were "called off" raiding Chinese gambling dens. Inspector John Jackson warned McLead to leave the places alone or he would be suspended, said the witness.

FARMERS WILL BE PROTECTED

Anti-dumping Situation Is Closely Watched, Says Barrow

Confidence that Canadian farmers would be competently protected against attempts to dump imported produce upon their markets was expressed this morning by Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture.

Mr. Barrow stated that he is keeping in close touch with Ottawa and steps being taken there to solve the situation. These difficulties arose when it was discovered that the method of operating anti-dumping regulations by seasonal rulings of the Minister had not been exactly in accord with legislative authority.

While no definite statement could be made at this time, Mr. Barrow expressed the hope that he will have further information by Friday evening, when he will accompany Premier MacLean, at a meeting at Chilliwack.

In the view of Mr. Barrow, the chief effect of the change in policy will be substitution of separate rulings for each shipment arriving in Canada in place of the general basic valuation assigned hitherto for duty purposes by the Minister. Hon. Mr. Barrow agreed that, unless further information sheds new light on the situation, this change in policy will have the effect of slowing up the imposition of and operation of the anti-dumping regulations. He was confident that the Canada-wide protests filed at Ottawa would be effective in giving farmers necessary protection, should the present legislation be shown to hold weaknesses.

ART SENSATION IN EUROPE NOW

Berlin, May 16.—A sensation has been caused in the art world in Berlin by a report that the "Portrait of a Young Lady" sold at the recent auction of the Huldschinski Art Collection as painted by Bugiardini was really painted by the great master Raphael.

The picture was bought by Sir Joseph Duveen for £3,950, but it is stated Sir Joseph ordered his representative to bid up to £75,000 for the work.

CRITICALLY ILL IN GERMAN CAPITAL

DR. GUSTAV STRESEMANN

Berlin, May 16.—Grave fears were held to-day in official circles here and by the family of Dr. Gustav Stresemann over the illness which confined to his bed the Foreign Minister who led Germany back to good relations with her former enemies. His kidney disorder has caused a general decline in Dr. Stresemann's condition.

CAMPBELL TO RACE CAR ON WALES BEACH

London, May 16—The London Mail says the Royal Automobile Club of Great Britain has banned as too dangerous the proposed attempt by Capt. Malcolm Campbell to better the world automobile speed record set by Ray Keech in Florida last month, by racing over the Pendine Sands in Carmarthenshire, Wales.

"All these attempts involve a risk of life and if I choose to take the risk I don't see why the Royal Automobile Club has any objection," Capt. Campbell said. "Now I shall have to go abroad, which means additional expense and trouble. I intend to get the record back."

CANADA IS NOW IMPORTING MORE EMPIRE GOODS

A. E. Pollard, British Trade Commissioner For Western Canada, Sees Development

Empire Shopping Week Expected to Result in Mutual Benefit

"Canada's imports from Great Britain are steadily increasing, particularly out in the West, and interest is growing throughout the country in favor of greater Empire trade," said A. E. Pollard, British trade commissioner for Western Canada with headquarters at Vancouver, to a Times representative at the Empress Hotel to-day.

There is room for development in Empire shopping, however, it was pointed out by Mr. Pollard in mentioning that Britain is buying twice as much from Canada as compared with the trade done by the British manufacturers with this country.

Mr. Pollard added that sentiment in favor of Empire trade was growing in the United Kingdom and real progress had been made in this direction.

PRINCIPALS COMING OUT

In regard to the pronounced desire of the British manufacturer to do business with Canada, the trade commissioner stated that more principals were now coming out here to size up the territory themselves.

The recent Empire Shopping Week was featured in sixty Canadian cities and Mr. Pollard considers that the campaign will result in a tremendous amount of good in developing Empire trade generally.

"The object of the campaign," said Mr. Pollard, "was to educate the public to the mutual interest of both Canada and the Mother Country, leading to the purchase of Empire products and thereby help each other.

"This is what we are trying to drive home, and its realization, if carried out consistently, will benefit the Empire as a whole."

Mr. Pollard expects to be in the city until the latter part of the week to interview business and industrial interests.

He has held the post of British trade commissioner in Western Canada for the last two years, having succeeded L. B. Beale, now British trade commissioner to New Zealand, who is now on a mission to London.

On Flight Over Arctic

Above is a glimpse of the car of the dirigible Italia, which to-day is cruising over a great area of the Arctic, east of Spitzbergen.

RADIO LINKS POLE AIRSHIP WITH NATIONS

New Era in Arctic Exploration Opened With Long Voyage of Italia East and North From Spitzbergen; Gen. Nobile and His Companions in Touch by Radio With Base Ship at King's Bay, Spitzbergen, at All Times; Airship Passes Franz Josef Land and Heads for Lenin Land

King's Bay, Spitzbergen, May 16—A steady stream of radio signals to-day linked King's Bay with the dirigible Italia, now cruising in lonely majesty over the mysterious Polar regions. The Italia has been sending hourly wireless messages to its base ship, the Citta di Milano, at King's Bay.

General Umberto Nobile sent a message early this morning that the Italia had experienced an hour and a half of fog and had to fly at a height of 150 metres in a fifty-kilometre wind at a speed of from thirty to forty kilometres.

FLAG DROPPED

At 7 o'clock this morning the Venezia flag was dropped over Tipliz Bay in honor of Francho Querieni, who followed the Cegni Polar Expedition of 1909 and perished there. At 8 o'clock two-thirds of the flight had been made and the airship was then northeast of Franz Josef's Sea. All aboard were well.

The dirigible was then proceeding to the east coast of Lenin Land, where it was planned to drop an ice anchor and put three men ashore on that little known land.

RETURN VOYAGE

The Italia is expected to return to King's Bay before Friday.

It was estimated the dirigible would travel 4,600 kilometres (2,800 miles) on the present trip, although it carries enough benzine for a trip of 6,000 kilometres.

The islands known as Franz Josef Land are northeast of Spitzbergen. Lenin Land is east of Franz Josef Land.

NO NEW LAND

Rome, May 16.—The dirigible Italia was headed over the vast unexplored Arctic region between Franz Josef Land and the vaguely defined coast of Lenin Land this morning. General Umberto Nobile, commander of the expedition, in a radio message to the Stefani News Agency here at 8 a.m., Greenwich time, said the airship was northeast of the Franz Josef archipelago. It was advancing toward the unexplored region between Franz Josef Land and the coast of Lenin Land.

In an earlier message the explorer said that up to 2.30 this morning, Greenwich time, the expedition had sighted no indication of new land.

After cruising some hours over the area between Spitzbergen and Franz Josef Land, General Nobile said he decided to turn north. With the visibility improving, the fliers were able to see a distance of twenty kilometres. They penetrated as far north at latitude 82 and then swung toward Alfred Harmsworth Island.

FINE WELCOME FOR MRS. SMITH IN ESQUIMALT

Liberal Candidate Is Warmly Greeted By Old Friends at Big Meeting

Attorney-General Manson Reviews Progress of British Columbia

Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, who is to be the Liberal candidate in Esquimalt riding, at the net provincial election, was last night greeted by a large body of voters at a rally in the Rex Theatre under the auspices of the Esquimalt Liberal Association.

A. T. Wale presided and Hon. A. M. Manson, the Attorney-General, and Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, supported Mrs. Smith.

Introduced by the chairman as "Our Mary," Mrs. Smith stated she felt as much at home speaking to Esquimalt voters as she could possibly feel. When her late husband represented the district she had covered the highways and byways twenty-eight years and knew what it meant in the old days of rough roads and horses.

"I feel it not only an honor to again cover the old tracks but also that I have been permitted by the old friends who have not forgotten and by the new friends who have received me so kindly to appear again here," Mrs. Smith said.

"I come into the fight with the intention of winning and if it means hard work, I am not afraid. I'll do it to the best of my ability."

CREDIT WHERE DUE

Mrs. Smith referred to the legislation with which she has been identified for the women and children of the Province. It was to the credit of the Liberal Government that they had supported her wide policy of safe and sane administration for women and children and the women should give credit where it is due.

"I propose to go through the campaign in a ladylike and dignified manner but if I must get in the ring, I will do so and the opponents will get what is coming to them," she declared. "I know I will get support, not only because of past associations but also because of the broad policy of the party which I represent."

Mrs. Smith was warmly received by the audience which filled the hall, and loud applause greeted the reference by Hon. A. M. Manson, the Attorney-General, to the beneficial legislation with which the candidate had been associated in the provincial house.

Forke States McMurray's Name Wrongly Mentioned At Immigration Inquiry

Ottawa, May 16.—Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, denied before the Commons immigration committee this afternoon that he had mentioned the name of Hon. E. J. McMurray, former Solicitor-General of Canada, in his conversation with Alderman M. J. Coldwell of Regina in March, 1927.

"I wish to say very emphatically that I did not make the statement Mr. Coldwell says I made about Mr. McMurray regarding immigration permits," Mr. Forke declared.

The minister said he had no knowledge whatever of Mr. McMurray having any connection with the granting of immigration permits.

Ottawa, May 16.—Hon. E. J. McMurray, former Solicitor-General of Canada, will be summoned to-day to appear before the Commons immigration committee next week. It is hoped to have Mr. McMurray give his evidence next Tuesday.

The motion for Mr. McMurray's presence was made immediately after the opening of this morning's sitting of the committee by C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal.

"The evidence brought out yesterday in my opinion necessitates the attendance of Hon. E. J. McMurray, former Solicitor-General," Mr. Cahan said. "He has been placed in a rather invidious position, and he should be given an opportunity to explain his position."

CURRIE CASE APPEAL FILED

Preston and Wilson Ask Ontario Supreme Court to Rule Out $500 Damages

Toronto May 16.—An appeal from the verdict of the special jury at the Cobourg assizes last month awarding General Sir Arthur Currie, who commanded the Canadian Corps in Canada, $500 damages in his libel action against W. T. R. Preston and F. W. Wilson of Port Hope were filed at the central registry here to-day. Mr. Preston and Mr. Wilson were not accompanied by counsel when they visited Osgoode Hall to file the appeal.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Preston, who arrived at Osgoode Hall with his counsel, R. R. Hall of Peterboro, Ont., just four minutes before closing time, was prevented by a technical oversight from filing the appeal, having to return to-day.

In the appeal Mr. Preston submits that "since the trial of this action the defendant Preston has discovered new evidence to the effect that the following order was issued from the Canadian Corps to the respective units thereof about 4.30 p.m. November 10, 1918, namely: 'All operation cancelled, hostilities cease 11th hour, 11th instart. Troops stand fast at line reached. No fraternizing with the enemy.' And that by the exercise of due diligence such evidence was not discovered prior to or during the trial of this action."

Transcription of the fourteen days' evidence at the trial will cast $1,200.

IMPRESSIVE RITES AT BURIAL TO-DAY OF COL. J. HOLMES

Former Commanding Officer Laid at Rest in Ross Bay Cemetery

Impressive military rites marked the funeral this afternoon of the late Col. Josiah Greenwood Holmes, who passed away on Sunday night at the residence of his son, Col. W. J. H. Holmes, Roslyn Road.

The services were held at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, and were attended by a large congregation including members of many pioneer families, and representatives of the local militia, with which the late colonel was associated for many years. Many beautiful floral tributes were banked around the casket, which was covered with the Union Jack.

Rev. A. de L. Nunns, rector of St. Mary's, conducted the services. The hymns sung were "For All The Saints" and "Abide With Me," also the Twenty-third Psalm. As the casket was borne out of the church the organist played the Dead March in Saul.

The remains were borne on a gun carriage to the church and to the graveside in Ross Bay cemetery, escorted by a detachment from "B" Company, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. A charger, with boots reversed in the saddle, followed the gun carriage.

All ranks of the local militia were also represented in the impressive funeral cortege. At the graveside a firing party from "B" Company fired a volley and a bugler sounded The Last Post.

The pallbearers were: General Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G.; Brig.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, C.M.G., D.S.O.; Mr. R. E. Brett, Mr. Hugh Peters, Commander C. Slingsby, R.N. (Retired), Herbert Carmichael, Major A. Mulcahy and Col. E. C. Hart.

PRAYER BOOK BEFORE M.P.'S

Vote of Ecclesiastical Committee Puts New English Volume Before Parliament

London, May 16 (Canadian Press Cable)—The first round in the Parliamentary struggle over the revised Prayer Book of the Church of England opened in the House of Lords to-day at a meeting of the ecclesiastical committee, and the committee decided by a majority of its members that the revised Prayer Book measure did not prejudicially affect the right of His Majesty's subjects and expressed the opinion that the measure should be proceeded with.

The ecclesiastical committee consists of thirty members of the House of Lords and thirty members of the House of Commons. To-day's meeting was held in private.

DEBATE IN JUNE

Resolutions approving the measure will be submitted to each of the Houses of Parliament that to the Commons first, and the debate thereon probably will begin early in June.

The fate of the measure in the Commons remains uncertain, although its opponents proclaim themselves convinced the developments since last December, when the first revision of the book was adopted by the House of Lords and rejected by the Commons, have strengthened their position. On the other hand, the supporters of the revised Prayer Book are determined to put up a stronger debating team this time than they had before.

GEORGE A. KIRK DIES IN LONDON

Head of Turner, Beaton Ltd. Succumbs to Heart Attack

According to a cablegram received in the city to-day, George Alan Kirk, of 532 St. Charles Street, managing director of the well-known manufacturing and dry-goods firm of Turner, Beeton Company Limited, passed away in London, England, this morning, succumbing to heart failure.

Mr. Kirk left Victoria few months ago, via the Panama Canal, on a holiday trip to England, leaving his widow and their only daughter, Miss Betty Kirk, at home, and the news of his very sudden death came as a great shock not only to his family but to a host of friends made during his forty years' residence in this city.

Born in England fifty-eight years ago, Mr. Kirk as a boy had leanings towards a career in the Royal Navy. He served for a time as a midshipman and in 1883 obtained a commission of lieutenant in the 4th Essex Regiment In 1890 he came to Victoria, and in the following year he and his brother bought out Mr. Turner in the firm of Turner, Beaton. When the present company was formed in 1902, Mr. Kirk was made managing director, a position he retained until the time of his death.

Shortly after coming to Victoria, Mr. Kirk joined the 8th Fusiliers, later attaining his majority. In 1914, while with his regiment at the Willows, he was thrown from his horse, sustaining the serious injury which subsequently necessitated the amputation of his leg some years ago.

A charter member of the Victoria Unit of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, Mr. Kirk served as its president in 1919, and under his regime the headquarters were moved from Langley Street to the Pemberton Building. He was one of the best-known and popular members of the Union Club, joining it in 1892.

ARBITRATION PACT DEBATED

No New British-U.S. Treaty Yet Drafted to Follow One Now Expiring

Washington, May 16.—A suggestion from the British Government that temporary extension of the Root-Bryce Arbitration Treaty of 1908 for a period of six or eight months beyond June 4 next, when the treaty will expire, be brought about by an exchange of notes between the two governments, has been found impossible by the United States.

The question was taken up with Secretary of State Kellogg several days ago by the British Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, who pointed out his Government had not found itself in agreement in all respects with the provisions of the Kellogg arbitration treaty, submitted in draft form by the United States on December 29 to replace the expiring Root-Bryce treaty.

THREE OTHER TREATIES

As submitted to Great Britain, the draft treaty was practically the same in its provisions as that signed with France and ratified by the Senate, and those signed subsequently with Germany and Italy. These treaties, as does the draft treaty submitted to Great Britain, omit the clause of the Root treaties which excludes from their scope questions affecting "the vital interests, the independence or the honor" of the contracting states. Specifically excluded among other things are disputes the subject matter of which depends upon or involves the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine.

SENATE AIRS THE WOMAN QUESTION

Conservative Anxious to Know Government's Attitude

Ottawa, May 16.—The question of the appointment of women as members of the Senate was raised in the Upper House last night.

Senator McMeans, Conservative, Manitoba, asked in view of the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada what steps the Government would take looking to the admission of women.

Senator Dandurand, Government leader in the second chamber, said the Minister of Justice had stated the Government was considering the advisability of securing an amendment to the constitution for this purpose, but he thought time should be permitted to allow for an appeal from the Supreme Court's decision if desired.

Senator McMeans asked if such a change in the constitution would not require the consent of the provinces which were opposed to any change in the British North America Act.

Senator Dandurand said that would be considered along with other features when the matter was further considered by the Government.

GAMBLING IS SUBJECT OF TESTIMONY

"Who'd suspend me?" McLeod asked.

"The Mayor will," Jackson answered, according to the witness.

"Then McLeod said: 'Then I'll get a warrant for the Mayor himself and arrest him with the rest,'" said Detective Grant.

ELECTION MENTIONED

"Mayor Taylor wanted two lottery joints to run because the two operators hed helped him in his election," was the statement of Chief H. W. Long to Detectives McLeod and Grant, the latter testified.

NO DEMONSTRATIONS

At the beginning of this morning's session Lieut.-Col. Hulme, commission secretary, announced no demonstrations or applause would be tolerated. He warned the spectators order must be maintained.

The first witness called was Detective J. Foran, who was questioned by A. H. MacNeill, K.C., commission counsel, with regard to evidence given in connection with the withdrawal of a charge against Joe Celona's brother.

Detective Foran said he had spoken to City Prosecutor McKay about the case and had been referred to Inspector Jackson. That officer, said Foran, had declared the charge would have to be withdrawn.

In reply to questions by R. L. Maitland, counsel for Detective Sergeant George McLaughlin, Detective Foran said Sergt. McLaughlin had given him instructions not to allow disorderly houses to open up. He was to raid them and obtain convictions whenever possible. Sergt. McLaughlin had never interfered with Detective Foran's work or with any charge laid by that detective, said the witness.

CHINESE WITNESS

Chow Wong Lum was then called to the witness stand by his counsel, W. W. B. MacInnes.

The Chinaman was sworn with the paper oath and was examined through an interpreter.

The witness declared he had operated a gaming house at 846 Main Street from May, 1927, until the present time. He had formerly operated 17 Trounce Alley and 57 Cordova Street West.

He had been in the gambling business for ten years, he said, and was running a place at present.

PROTECTION GIVEN

At this juncture Mr. MacInnes asked the protection of the court in connection with the witness' evidence and Commissioner Lennie agreed.

Under continued examination by Mr. MacInnes, Chow declared he had been arrested often by Inspector Jackson. He also knew Sergeant McLaughlin, he said. He was not sure how often he had been arrested, but said it was "tens of times." His place at 846 Main Street had been raided five or six times, he declared.

NO MONEY PAID

"Did you ever pay Inspector Jackson for protection?" asked Mr. MacInnes.

"No," replied Chow Wong Lum.

"Did you ever pay Sergeant McLaughlin for protection?"

"No."

In reply to further questions, the witness declared he had never paid any officer, paid money to any person for an officer, and had never received police protection.

The witness said he knew Joe Yem, who had worked for him at "802" and from May to October last year had been a partner at 846 Main Street.

"Joe Yem said you told him that you paid $50 a month to the police for protection. Is that true?" asked Mr. MacInnes.

"That is not true; it is false," replied the witness through the interpreter.

Chow Wong Lum continued that Joe Yem had kept the accounts at 846 Main Street, and had been told by the witness to make an entry of $50 a month for expenses.

"Was that for legitimate expenses?" asked Mr. MacInnes.

"I was boss. I had to buy cigars and drinks for friends. Sometimes I had to pay twenty-five or fifty cents to losers so they could buy meals," replied the witness. "It was good friendship money to keep up the business."

STATEMENT DENIED

"Joe Yem said," declared Mr. MacInnes, "that in October Inspector Jackson returned and you had to give $200 a month. Is that true?"

"He's crazy," was the reply. "I never said that. Jackson was back long before then."

"He also said you were to pay $200 to run a 1-2-3 game."

"We ran a 1-2-3 since the beginning. For three or four weeks we ran it, then if anyone wanted to play it, they could," said the witness.

POLICE RAIDS

The witness, in reply to continued questions by Mr. MacInnes, denied Joe Yem's statement that the place had been notified before a police raid occurred.

"Now, after a raid, was your paraphernalia ever returned?" asked Mr. MacInnes.

"No. I got back drawers and accounts. The police would take them away. But I never got back any actual gambling paraphernalia," replied Chow Wong Lum through the interpreter.

"Now Joe Yem said he left the partnership because it was not profitable to pay graft money of $200. Is that "true?" asked counsel.

FIGHT DESCRIBED

The witness replied that Joe Yem had left because he had fought with another employee. The other man had reported to the witness that Joe Yem's figuring was not right. The witness had instructed his informant to watch Joe Yem's figuring and the latter "got mad." His informant was Chow Dun Yen, said the witness. Chow Wong Lum continued that Joe Yem had taken off his coat to fight the other employee, Chow Dun Yen, and had left the partnership because he was ashamed of himself because he had been caught cheating.

"Why are you continuing to run a gambling place?" asked Mr. MacInnes.

"I want to make a fortune," was the reply amid laughter, which was checked by Lieut.-Col. Hulme. "If I am raided it is all right," it not, it is my chance."

IDENTIFIES CONSTABLE

Mr. MacInnes then asked Chow Wong Lum if he knew Constable H. H Duggan.

The witness replied he did, and identified that officer as the latter rose to his feet.

The witness said Constable Duggan had remarked that he (the officer), had lived near the Chinaman. Constable Duggan had made the remark in Chinatown, but Chow Wong Lum had just walked away, said the witness.

"Was Duggan ever in your place at 17 Trounce Alley?" asked Mr. MacInnes.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Did he ever play the lottery there?"

TICKET NOT MARKED

"One day, when I wasn't there," replied the witness, "I was told he came in and wanted to mark a ticket. The employees did not speak English and would not let him do it."

In response to a question, the witness denied he had never offered Constable Duggan $10 to keep away from 17 Trounce Alley.

"Did you see Duggan at the police station at Christmas time?" asked Mr. MacInnes.

"Yes," was the reply.

"What happened?"

"He was in the general office and he asked me for a Christmas present. I did not give him anything," said the witness.

LIVED IN VICTORIA

Preparing to cross-examine Chow Wong Lum, G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for Police Commissioner T. W. Fletcher, told the commissioner the witness spoke English and he proposed to dispense with the services of the interpreter.

His first questions brought to light the fact that the witness came to Victoria from China nineteen years ago and moved to Vancouver about nine years ago, after running a gambling joint in the Island city.

Mr. McGeer questioned him closely about his gambling houses at 57 Cordova Street, 17 Trounce Alley and 2-4 Abbott Street.

At the last named place, said the witness, Joe Yem was partner and manager. The witness said he kept no books now at his place on Main Street.

Asked by Mr. McGeer how he managed to make out income tax returns, the witness said he kept papers of profit and loss every day.

PAPERS WANTED

Mr. McGeer wanted the witness to give the interpreter an order to get the papers at once.

Mr. MacInnes protested that this was "ridiculous."

Mr. McGeer said Mr. McInnes had placed himself in the uncomfortable position of now admitting the witness had books or papers.

"I am not in an uncomfortable position," said the other counsel.

Mr. McGeer suggested sending the interpreter and an officer to get the books. He would like to have a search warrant, he added.

Further questioning of the witness about the books of different gambling houses he was interested in brought from Mr. McGeer the remark:

"This man has only lied five times in the last five minutes."

Mr. MacInnes protested against such a remark.

"I don't think those comments should be made," said Commissioner Lennie.

After further questioning of the witness about his books by Mr. McGeer, he was sent, along with an escort, to get together the documents which had been mentioned.

$1,000 PAYMENT

Before the next witness was called Mr. McGeer took the opportunity to explain to the commissioner that in the fur coat theft case mentioned in Tuesday's evidence, $1,000 had been paid for the man's freedom, not to the police, but to the legal fraternity. He wished to clear up this point. The evidence given on Tuesday indicated the payment might have been made to thhe police.

DETECTIVE TESTIFIES

He called Detective W. G. Grant, who said he had been seventeen years a member of the Vancouver force. He had been a detective since 1920.

Asked to describe conditions in Vancouver during the last few years, the witness said:

"I don't find any differencet from one year to another; only there is more gambling the last few years, more lotteries."

He went on to say he and Detective McLeod had made a report to the chief on conditions. A week later another report was submitted and they were called to the chief's office.

They were told by the chief, said the witness, that their report had been sent to the mayor and that it was "giving much annoyance and trouble."

At this point Alex Henderson, one of Mayor Taylors' counsel, protested against hearsay evidence.

Mr. MacNeill said the chief was under investigation and anything he was reported to have said was admissable as evidence.

TO MAKE STATEMENTS

Commissioner Lennie allowed the evidence, saying both the chief and the mayor were available and could give their own versions.

Continuing, the witness said:

"The chief said the mayor had said he would much rather we would go after murderers and holdup men and leave the gambling alone. McLeod said

Ships Named for Indian Chiefs Recall Stories of Early Sixties

(By HERBERT MACKLIN)

It is interesting to note that the Canadian-American Shipping Company, Limited, with headquarters at Vancouver, who purchased three vessels last week from Robert Dollar, of San Francisco, at a cost of $1,500,000, will name these ships for Indian chiefs famed in the historical lore of this Province. The Ss. Robert Dollar will be the Ss. Chief Capilano, the Esther Dollar will be the Chief Maquilla and the Ms. Dollar will be named the Chief Skidegate, and re-christening of these freighters will take place immediately.

Much could be written concerning the early history and activities of these Indian chiefs, whose memories will be immortalized by having their names inscribed on the bows of these large steamers. There is one Indian chief of the Haida tribe whose notable career, during the early sixties, did much to promote good feeling towards whites, and who influenced his tribe to adopt civilization and respect the laws, whose name should be perpetuated in some becoming manner, and a brief history of this warrior outlining some of his acts and doings is worthy of mention in the columns of this paper. This Indian bore the name of Albert Edward Edenshaw, chief of the Haidas, and his descendants are to-day living at Massett, B.C., where they conduct a store and a good business connection. Until he became chief, Edenshaw bore the name Gwai-gu-un-Ethin, or "the man who rests his head on an island." He was born at a village called Althins Kwun, which stood on the promontory now known as Cape Ball, on the eastern coast of Queen Charlotte Islands, not far from Skidegate. The date of his birth is uncertain but may probably be placed somewhere between 1810 and 1815. His youth was passed in stirring times, for the Haidas were then a very wralike race and terrorized the entire coast from Sitka to Vancouver Island. In the slave-capturing raids, the Skidegate and Clue Haidas, under a warrior named Shk-ug-ga, took a prominent part and young Edenshaw and his two brothers are said to have distingulshed themselves by their energy and daring in many a fierce encounter. As early as 1842 when the ship Canada, of New Bedford, visited Skidegate, her first officer considered Edenshaw of sufficient importance to write for him a commendatory certificate.

TEN SLAVES

About this time Edenshaw removed to North Island, at the northwest corner of the Queen Charlotte group. Here his uncle, bearing the hereditary name of Edenshaw, was already established as a powerful chief. According to Haida custom the chieftainship descends not to the chief's son, but to his sister's son, who is supposed to marry the chief's daughter. In the present case the chief had no daughter, and young Edenshaw, who was his uncle's legal heir, married the daughter of an Alaskan Haida. On his uncle's death Edenshaw succeeded him, inherited all his property and took his name. The property included six slaves, and as his wife brought with her a dowry of ten slaves, young Edenshaw's domestic establishment was liberally supplied with attendants. Being now his own master he had full scope for the energy and capacity he possessed and soon added considerably to the prestige he had inherited. Knowing that the man who could make the most potlatches—viz., the largest distribution of property—was unanimously accorded the supremacy, he set himself to acquire wealth, which in those days consisted chiefly of slaves, blankets, furs and coppers. The "coppers" were flat sheets of metal about two by two-and-a-half feet in size, on which a device was etched. In olden times they acquired a fictitious value, one copper being considered worth ten slaves. Edenshaw's friends say he never captured slaves himself, though he constantly bought and sold them. He obtained them chiefly from Skidegate, and often went as far as Sitka to sell them. He used to travel in state, in a dugout canoe twelve fathoms long, elaborately painted at both ends, manned by a large number of slaves and dependents. By means of constant trading, he accumulated a large quantity of property and in the course of his life made no less than seven large potlatches.

NARROW ESCAPE

He had not long been chief when he had a narrow escape of his life in an encounter with some Tsimshians on the River Naas. He had gone out with a large party of Haidas to sell a slave and a large copper. The Naas people recognized the slave as one of themselves and claimed him. This led to an angry dispute during which Edenshaw and a Tsimishian chief engaged in a hand to hand struggle. A bystander raised his gun to shoot Edenshaw who adroitly swung his opponent round and made him receive the charge, which instantly killed him. Edenshaw then rushed towards his canoe. On the way several shots were fired after him and two bullets struck him, but he managed to reach his craft and escape, though he carried the bullets, embedded in his flesh, all his life. In 1852 Captain Rooney, of the schooner Susan Sturges, called at Masset on a trading expedition. The Massett Haidas swarmed on board and took possession of the vessel, the white crew taking refuge in the cabin where they would doubtless have been murdered, had not Edenshaw, who happened to be on board, interfered on their behalf. He stood with his back against the cabin door, and dared any one to injure them. As it was the white men were secured and taken to the village, and the schooner pillaged and burnt. Edenshaw, however, contrived afterwards to obtain the white men's release, and took them in his canoe to Port Simpson. The original document which Captain Rooney gave Edenshaw on that occasion is still in the possession of the family and is worth transcribing:

A CAPABLE SEAMAN

Fort Simpson, October 10, 1852. "The bearer of this, Edenshaw, is chief of the tribe of Indians residing on North Island. I have reason to know that he is a good man, for he has been the means of saving the lives of me and my crew, who were attacked by the Massett Indians off the harbor of that name. He and his wife and child were on board the vessel coming from Sxiddigat harbor round to North Island, when on September 28, 1852, we were surprised by some canoes alongside. We were so overpowered by numbers, and so sudden the attack, that all resistance on our part was quite impossible, but after gaining the cabin, this man and his wife and two or three of his men, who happened to come off in a small canoe, protected us for seven hours until he made some terms with them for our safety. He saved my chronometer and several other things, which he brought to Fort Simpson, and gave to me, without ever asking for any remuneration. I hope if this should be shown to any master of a ship, that he will treat him well, for he deserves well at the hand of every white man.

"Matthew Rooney,
"Former Master of Schooner "Susan Sturges."

In 1853 two Government boats visited Edenshaw's territory and their commanders interviewed him. One of these was Captain W. Houstoun, of H.M.S. Trincomalee, who states that he found Edenshaw a man of great influence in the neighborhood and advises his being treated with great consideration. The other was commanded by J. C. Prevost, of H.B.M. steam sloop Virago, who engaged Edenshaw as his pilot and was able to say that he considered him "the best pilot on the coast, not only knowing the different anchorages, but understanding more of the capabilities of a large ship than any other Indian he had yet met with.'"

WRECK OF SARDONY

When, at the invitation of Rev. W. H. Collison, the various small tribes of Indians on the north shore of Queen Charlotte Islands gathered to form one settlement at Massett, Edenshaw came with them and henceforth made Massett his home. Here he lived an uneventful life for many years and the only occasion when he at all attracted public notice was at the wreck of the steamer Sardonyx in 1890. The captain of that unfortunate vessel speaks highly of the "kindness and hospitality shown by Edenshaw and his people" to the shipwrecked crew. The interview between the captain and Edenshaw was not altogether devoid of sentiment, for the captain adds "As I could not speak his language, nor he mine, I laid the gun which I held in my hand at his feet as a token of honor and respect." Edenshaw died at Massett on November 16, 1894. In addition to a stone over his grave a monument has been erected to him in the village street, with an inscription commemorating the above-mentioned rescue of the crew of the Susan Sturges. He had two children, one George, who died before him, the other, Henry, who was a teacher at the Masset Indian School. He was succeeded in the chieftainship by his nephew, Charles Edenshaw. Thus ended the career of a man who certainly did something to bring about a good understanding between natives and whites in Northern British Columbia, and it was doubtless partly owing to his influence and example that the Haidas took so readily to civilized ways and became one of the most law-abiding tribes on the coast.

GAMLING IS SUBJECT OF TESTIMONY

he would also prefer that, but we could not let the city run wide open. He then said the mayor had come to him some time back and asked that two lottery joints be allowed to run, because they had helped him in his election."

After that, the witness testified, Inspector Jackson had said they better leave it alone. He said he had seen the mayor, and added, "You know how I can talk to Taylor."

WANTED AN AXE

McLeod had said he would take an axe and wreck the place. Jackson told him he had better not, because he would only get himself into trouble. He had told McLeod he would get in trouble, get himself suspended. Jackson had told of another conversation with the mayor. The witness did not remember details of it. McLeod had said, "if he tries to intefere I will get a warrant and arrest the mayor."

ALIBI DEVICES

Mr. McGeer asked if the Chinese lottery places afforded alibis for criminals.

"Yes. A few were sent to jail," said Detective Grant.

"Then the suggestion that you leave gambling places alone and go after the worse sort of criminals wasn't of much value?"

"No, it wasn't," said the witness.

Commissioner Lennie asked if Detective Grant had ever found criminals in such places.

Detective Grant replied he had found criminals in gambling dens in 1927.

"Gambling came to its highest pitch last year?" asked Mr. McGeer.

"I didn't take notice. I knew there had been the like for some time but it did seem to come to a pitch," said the witness.

"And major crime came up at the same time?"

"Well, there was a lot of it then. Many men come into town at that time of year."

NO INTERFERENCE

Detective Sergt. George McLaughlin had never interfered with him in the performance of his duties in any way, Detective Grant testified.

In reply to questions by Mr. Gowan, Grant stated he was present with Detective McLeod in Chief Long's office when the chief had said McLeod's report on gambling conditions was causing him much worry. He had heard the conversation in which the chief was alleged to have said the mayor would prefer that the men should devote their time to the detection of dangerous criminals rather than gamblers. The chief had never suggested to him at any time that he should fail to perform his duty or allow any place to run, said the witness. The chief had seemed to be much annoyed by the fact that certain places were running and he understood those places to belong to two Chinamen toward whom the mayor was friendly.

After McLeod's second report, said Grant, all the places of which he had complained were closed up for several days and then opened again. That was in the Fall of 1927. They had run for some time after that, but many of them were now closed.

YESTERDAY'S EVIDENCE

Constable H. H. Duggan, who said he had been a member of the Vancouver police force since January 24, 1921, and formerly on the London Metropolitan Police Force, was a witness at yesterday afternoon's session of the inquiry.

At one point in his evidence, answering questions asked by W. W. B. MacInnes, counsel for Shue Moy, Constable Duggan said:

"There was no law in Chinatown. The Chinamen and a few more were running the place. A policeman was not recognized."

Constable Duggan had declared Shue Moy had told him he owned several gambling places and Mr. McInnes demanded of the witness why, as a police officer, he had not arrested Shue Moy.

Duggan said he had not even reported this conversation because "he knew his superiors knew" of Chue Moy's activities.

BOY WITH LOTTERY TICKETS

The constable also told of visiting an alleged Chinese gambling place at 17 Trounce Alley, where he found a very young white boy playfully marking lottery tickets. When he asked a Chinese employee about the boy, he was instructed by the Chinese to "mind his own business."

Constable Duggan reported this occurrence to Detective Sergeant George McLaughlin of the morality squad, he said, but that officer declared there was "nothing in the Criminal Code" to permit Duggan to lay a charge against the Chinese of contributing to juvenile delinquency. For one week thereafter, Constable Duggan continued, he had "molested" the place, chasing out the inmate and barricading the doors. Then a Chinese offered him $10 to "lay off" the place, but Duggan refused. A few days later, however, Sergeant McLaughlin, testified Constable Duggan, told him to "lay off; we are letting up on these joints now."

RAID INCIDENTS

Constable Duggan also told of going to the police station one night to report big games in two gambling places on Pender Street. He found a raiding party of detectives about to leave the station, and he accompanied them to Chinatown. When the squad arrived where, half an hour previously, Constable Duggan had seen the games in progress, one place was empty and dark. In the other, about ten men were taken.

On another occasion he had seen numbers of Chinese leaving different Chinatown places. Fearing a tong war, he had made inquiries, and was informed everything was all right—that a raid was going to be made. A few minutes later a raiding party arrived, but all the places were empty.

Constable Duggan named twenty-nine gambling houses in Chinatown for Chinese exclusively.

Following his evidence relating to a Chinese' offering him $10 to "lay off" closing his joint and the instructions he had later received from Sergt. McLaughlin, Constable Duggan said Sergt. Parsons had said to him, "'Well, you can't beat the system, Duggan,' and I replied 'No.' After that I didn't interfere with the place, and for the next three weeks of my tour of duty there the place was running wide open without being molested."

DETECTIVE TESTIFIES

CHIEF DID NOT INTERFERE

In reply to questions asked by G. H. Cowan, K.C., counsel for Police Chief H. W. Long, Detective McDonald said he did not know of any case where the Chief had interfered to reduce a charge or interfered with a raid. He had no suggestion that the Chief had ever failed in his duty.

"I have always found the Chief a perfect gentleman," he added.

He was president of the A. R. & I. Company, which operated the Galt Collieries here until purchased by the C.P.R. in 1911.

Mr. Galt had gone to New York last January for his health, but suffered a heart attack four weeks ago. Complications set in and he continued to fail until death came in his apartment in the Plaza Hotel Monday night.

Elliott Galt was one of the pioneers of the prairies. He was largely responsible for the scheme of colonization that turned the barren lands of southern Alberta into productive farms. During the last few years he had lived for some years in Montreal. He retired from active business about twenty years ago.

OPINION UNANIMOUS

Unanimity of opinion for Mr. McMurray's attendance prevailed in the committee and no objection to Mr. Cahan's motion was voiced.

Chairman K. Kay immediately put the question and the motion was carried without a dissenting vote.

The committee then adjourned until 4 o'clock this afternoon in order that the Conservative members might attend a caucus.

SCHOOL AWAITS HIM

Before the motion for adjournment was carried, A. M. Carmichael, Progressive, Kindersley, Sask., pressed for the resumption this morning of the examination of Alderman Coldwell of Regina. Mr. Coldwell, Mr. Carmichael continued, had made his statement at yesterday's meeting in regard to his knowledge of trafficking in special immigration permits. Important duties awaited the return of Alderman Coldwell to Regina as he was principal of a high school in that city and the annual examinations were approaching.

Chairman Kay said it was the usual practice to adjourn a meeting of a committee when an official party caucus was being held.

W. A. Boys, Conservative, North Simcoe, Ontario, said this practice had prevailed for years and he moved adjournment until this afternoon with a view to premitting Alderman Coldwell to start back to Regina to-night.

Mr. McMurray, who was member of the Commons from 1921 till 1925, representing North Winnipeg, was Solicitor-General from September 12, 1923, till he ceased to be a member of the House.

IN PREVIOUS ADMINISTRATION

In his evidence before the committee yesterday Alderman Coldwell said the obtaining of the large number of permits for newcomers to the country referred to by Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, in a conversation with him, had occurred before the present Minister of Immigration had assumed office. The witness read correspondence between Mr. Forke and himself following the speech Mr. Coldwell made in Regina. Alderman Coldwel said Mr. Forke had told him that when he, Mr. Forke, discovered the large number of permits that had been issued, he had written to his ministerial predecessor. His predecessor in the Meighen Government had referred him to the previous occupant of the portfolio.

Mr. Forke, Alderman Coldwell continued, intimated that when he looked into the records previous to his administration, he had found conditions worse than he had expected.

It was in a speech in Regina last Summer that Alderman Coldwell charged there had been trafficking in immigration permits.

"Who was the greatest liar ever known, Bobby?"

A pause.

"Surely you must know, my lad."

"Well, sir, of course, I know there was Ananias; but then there's my young brother!"

THE SENATE CLIMBS DOWN

IT IS OBVIOUS THAT THE LOBBY OF the liquor interests at Ottawa has broken down in the face of the protests which the provinces made against the action of the Senate in its unwarranted interference with the liquor importation bill. The measure now will go on the statute books practically as it passed the House of Commons. Neither inter-provincial nor international trading by the private individual will be permitted. The Senate's amendment, that quantities of half a gallon and less should be exempted, has been withdrawn.

Vested now in the provinces operating control systems is the sole right to import liquor or move liquor from one province to another. This arrangement is the result of six years of patient waiting for the Senate's endorsement of it. Attorney-General Manson of this province first asked the Dominion Government to give British Columbia the sole right to import liquor for distribution here. In this application Mr. Manson was supported by Quebec, that being the only other province selling liquor in Government dispensaries at that time. Three times the House of Commons passed it and three times the Senate rejected it. The Dominion-provincial conference of last Fall gave Mr. Manson another opportunity to deal with the matter. Readily did the other provinces support him. Again the bill went through the House; but this time the Senate merely took a fling at it by writing an amendment into it which still would have left the bootlegger a hole through which to creep.

It is this amendment which now has been withdrawn. Provincial opinion, which Mr. Manson with commendable patience was able to attract to the reasonableness of his request, at last has impressed the Senate. British Columbia's Attorney-General has rendered a service to the cause of good government which no doubt the other "control" provinces already realize.

DOMINIONS AND WAR

IN AN ARTICLE ON THE SUBJECT OF naval defence and Canada's attitude towards it our morning contemporary says:

> It was only the other day that the Government at Ottawa explained how Canada, now an autonomous nation, has the right to decline to take part in a war in which Britain is engaged, and had used its national privilege in declining to become a party to the Locarno treaties. Is that not another way of saying that Canada claims the right to refuse to go to the help of Britain when Britain needs help? What is sauce for the goose in that respect is surely sauce for the gander. Has not, therefore, Britain the same right? Would not she be perfectly justified under present conditions, to refuse to aid Canada if and when Canada got into trouble?

Great Britain certainly has the same right in respect of the matter to which the morning paper refers as any of the Dominions, and on one occasion, in the case of Canada, actually exercised it. This always has been understood, but it was very explicitly implied in the declaration of the last Imperial Conference, in which it was set forth that no Dominion could be bound by the foreign engagements or activities of any of the other Dominions—which included Britain—without its approval. This on the face of it is sound policy, since it should prove a useful check upon any dangerous international tendencies which one or other of the Dominions might develop.

It is a matter of historical knowledge that Canada took this position during the Crimean War in 1853-56 and during the war in the Sudan in 1885, when Sir John A. Macdonald declined to send troops in response to inquiries from London. At that time Sir John sent the following letter to Sir Charles Tupper, then High Commissioner in London:

> I have your notes of the 18th and 27th on the subject of sending troops to the Soudan. I wrote you a hurried note the other day on this question, and have before and since talked it over with my colleagues, and we think the time has not arrived, nor the occasion, for our volunteering military aid to the Mother Country.
> We do not stand at all in the same position as Australasia. The Suez Canal is nothing to us, and we do not ask England to quarrel with France and Germany for our sakes. The offer of these colonies is a good move on their part, and somewhat like Cavour's sending Sardinian troops to the Crimea. Why should we waste money and men in this wretched business? England is not at war, but merely helping the Khedive to put down an insurrection, and now that Gordon is gone, the motive of aiding in the rescue of our countrymen is gone with him. Our men and money would therefore be sacrificed to get Gladstone and Co. out of the hole they have plunged themselves into by their own imbecility.
> AGAIN, THE RECIPROCAL AID TO BE GIVEN BY THE COLONIES AND ENGLAND SHOULD BE A MATTER OF TREATY, DELIBERATELY ENTERED INTO AND SETTLED ON A PERMANENT BASIS. The spasmodic offers of our militia colonels, anxious for excitement and notoriety, have roused unreasonable expectations in England, and are so far unfortunate. I daresay that a battalion or two of venturous spirits might be enlisted, but 7d. a day will cool most men's warlike ardour.

It will be observed that Sir John wanted this question of reciprocal aid to be determined by a treaty—an arrangement much more drastic than any which has been proposed since then. Nor has the policy which Sir John Macdonald laid down more than forty years ago undergone any change—certainly not as far as the Conservative Party is concerned.

In a speech at Hamilton in 1926 Mr. Meighen, then Conservative leader, said:

> If ever the time should come when the spectre of 1914 should again appear, I believe it would be the best that the decision of the Government . . . . should be submitted to the judgment of the people at a general election before troops should leave our shores.

The Conservative Party of Canada accepted this policy without a murmur. With only one or two exceptions its journalistic supporters accepted it without a sign of protest.

As to the specific subject of naval defence, it should be recalled that the Borden Government removed the Laurier Naval Act from the statute books of this country. This was in pursuance of a bargain it made with Mr. Henri Bourassa and his Nationalist following in Quebec—the same Mr. Bourassa whom The Colonist which then welcomed him as an ally now dislikes so much.

If the Laurier Naval Act had remained on the statute books, Canada would have had a useful naval force in 1914. Since then the situation has changed very materially, as sixty thousand Canadian crosses and a war bill of two billion dollars bear eloquent witness.

UNITED STATES AND NICARAGUA

IF EVERY ADULT CITIZEN OF THE United States would voluntarily submit his and her opinion about their country's intervention in the domestic affairs of Nicaragua, the whole collection would make interesting reading. The newspapers and the cartoonists are considerably exercised about the situation, those friendly to the administration naturally finding as much justification as possible for the course which President Coolidge has taken, and those hostile to it losing no opportunity of suggesting that the very imperialism to which Uncle Sam is supposedly bitterly opposed is a part of the policy now being pursued in Nicaragua.

The Ohio State Journal publishes a moving drawing by Westerman which shows several United States marines lying dead on the shore, with an American battleship at anchor in the distance, over this caption: "Worth More Than All The Nicaraguan Elections Ever Held." This naturally depicts an angle of the controversy which the peaceful citizen, and he is in the majority, would like explained. His first question is: Why should my country shed blood and spend money in an enterprise of this sort? To which question The Richmond Times-Dispatch would appear to supply at least part of the answer:

> This expenditure of money is not the important item of the cost of the expedition into Nicaragua. It is reported by the Navy Department that twenty-one marines have been killed in their clashes with Sandino's men. In war these casualties would amount to nothing; in time of peace they are nothing less than frightful. What has been accomplished, or what is hoped to be accomplished, by reason of this expedition no one knows, save, possibly, Mr. Coolidge, and he has not deigned to take the people of the United States into his confidence. All they know, and all the average Nicaraguan knows, is that here is an unauthorized war in which there has been a great expenditure of money and a staggering loss of life. Perhaps, however, it has resulted in great benefit to men of this country who are interested in the banana and mahogany industries.

While The Times-Dispatch may speak for the majority of the American people, who fight shy of the idea of "foreign entanglements," there no doubt is an element in the country which would applaud the sentiments of The Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger, which says:

> The emotionalists are well-meaning people devoted to the cause of liberty and self-government. They are convinced that whenever the marines are used as they are being used in Central America, the liberties of the native population are checked. Some of them charge that their primary reason for sending an armed force is to "protect the investments of Wall Street," and that it is on the demand of Wall Street that the Government acts. No argument can convince them to the contrary, for they are stirred by their emotions and not governed by reason.

The problem of Nicaragua is not the only problem of its kind. Great Britain is confronted with a situation somewhat similar in principle in Egypt. Both, of course, will be solved eventually. Future developments will determine the manner of their solution.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

GOLFING IN SIAM

(From The Montreal Star)

There is no such leveler of human nature as your golf course. It tests the temper of man—and of woman, too, for that matter—as no other form of diversion or exercise can do, and it teaches, better than any other game on earth, the much-needed lesson of self-control. When the King of Siam confided to a newspaper correspondent the other day that he was often temped to throw his clubs away, he was only confessing an urge that every golfer has felt at some time or other in his experiences. It is the man who resists that impulse and who continues to play the game who really derives benefit from is perseverance.

He is a greater debtor to his amusement than he knows, for the effects of the lessons he learns stay with him after the game is over, and their influence makes itself felt in a score of seemingly trivial ways that really count for a good deal in his daily life. If the present Winter ever comes to an end, the golf season will open, and devotees and tyros alike will find in the pursuit of the little white ball the same surcease from worry and release from care that it has provided for centuries past to the great majority of those who have sought its solace. It is unwise, however, to count one's enjoyments before they are in sight. Fur coats in the latter part of April can hardly be taken as an index of Summer, or even as a harbinger of Spring.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor:—Will you kindly allow me space to make a correction in a letter of May 8, and signed by Mrs. McVicker, in which she refers to an article written by me as "Black Bears and White Varmints." As my typed copy contains no such heading, I presume she has written from hearsay. If so, she will no doubt draw your attention to the fact and correct her error, which should read "Black Bear and White Vandals."

THE GREAT EVENT

To the Editor:—It would seem fair to remark that the date of May 28, 1928, indicated in the Great Pyramid by the entrance to the low passage leading to the King's Chamber, is not declared by students of the subject to be the date of commencement of the next great war, but of a period of great trouble which will lead to war. No one expects such an event on May 28 this year, and of course no one desires it, but the forcible ejection of a royal trouble maker from England at this time is one indication of future possibilities.

Luxton, May 16.—Mrs. Mary Cooper of Arbutus Cottage has been entertaining her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Livingston of Victoria, who have just returned from a trip to California, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Livingston Jr.

Mrs. S. Hutchison is spending a few days in Duncan attending the Island District Conference, being the chosen delegate of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute. Mrs. Robert Brown, who is on the executive of the Island District Board, is also attending the conference.

Many future activities were planned by the Busy Bees at their meeting in Luxton Hall Monday afternoon. Committees were formed and detailed arrangements made for the gala day to be held in Luxton Hall on July 5. In place of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute holding their regular meetinft that day they lend support and co-operate in every way with the Busy Bees. In addition there will be a doll and cake guessing competition, also an attractive programme is being arranged for. Tea will be served. The Busy Bees hope to realize a substantial sum, the proceeds of gala day being used to defray expenses of the annual outing of the Busy Bees. All preparations for gala day will be under the guidance of the two supervisors, Mrs. McLeod and Miss H. G. Kelly. It was decided the Busy Bees should assist the members of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute on Tag Day arranged for Saturday, May 19, the proceeds of which will be given the Vancouver Crippled Children's Hospital.

PROMINENT FIGURE

"Mrs. Smith has played a part in public life in British Columbia such as no other women has played—either in British Columbia or in any other part of Canada or in the whole of the Empire," said Mr. Manson. "She was the first woman to sit in a legislative assembly. And she was by no means a tyro, having been intimately connected with public life through the associations of her late husband. In her quiet and modest way she has left her imprint upon the legislation of the Province and her influence has been greatly felt."

A large number of voters in Esquimalt were not satisfied with the present representation, said Mr. Manson and they would be really happy to make a change, in the process getting a really experienced legislator as their representative.

B.C.'s PROGRESS

The Attorney-General gave a concise and comprehensive account of the "Progress of British Columbia," illustrating his talk by slides depicting advances in various lines of industry in the Province.

His story was to be a non-political one in the sense that it was non-partisan, he commenced, referring, however, to the fact that an election was possibly in the offing.

"The only person who really seems to know the date of the election is Harry Pooley," he said, "but I have seen Mr. Pooley wrong so often that I have an idea he may be wrong on this matter too."

EARLY HISTORY

Mr. Manson traced the early history of British Columbia in opening his address, mentioning the dubious accounts of Eastern Canadians about British Columbia, when this Province sought entrance to Confederation. The Province was cut off by the Rocky Mountains, he explained, mail and telegraph connections being by way of the South. British Columbia was referred to in the East as a "sea of mountains" and the prairie provinces as frozen wastes. British Columbia as a potential source of agriculture, mining, forestry and fisheries was not thought of.

"Since that time let us see what has transpired," he said.

In connection with a photograph of the late John Oliver, Mr. Manson paid tribute to the late Government leader.

TRIBUTE TO JOHN OLIVER

"His name was identified with one of the most critical periods in the history of British Columbia. His was one of the few war Governments which remained in office. It would be remiss in speaking of British Columbia's progress not to closely associate it with his name," said Mr. Manson.

The Attorney-General explained one by one, the progress in each of the Province's four basic industries—agriculture, mining, lumbering and fishing.

AGRICULTURE

In the ten-year period of 1907-16 the value of agricultural production in British Columbia was $202,581,036; in the 1917-26 period, it was $592,008,299, an increase of 192 per cent. Production in 1916 was valued at $32,182,915 and in 1926 at $71,362,209, an increase of 121 per cent.

"This is a remarkable record, any reasonable man or woman must admit," he declared.

There were large increases in all branches he further explained, referring to the export of 196 carloads of eggs from British Columbia last year. Four years ago no eggs were exported from British Columbia.

Criticism regarding importation of agricultural products could be answered with the figures showing imports to have increased only twenty-five per cent since 1916 while exports had jumped over 100 per cent, since the Brewster Government secured control in 1917.

Mr. Manson outlined the Sumas reclamation project, stating that all dyking work done in the Fraser area had been underestimated as to cost in the first instances. The Sumas job was the lowest underestimation of them all, he said.

LUMBERING

With regard to lumbering, the speaker explained figures showing the value of production in the 1907-16 period to be $212,474,000 as against $723,942,803 in the 1917-26 period, an increase of about 240 per cent. In 1916 production was valued at $35,528,000 while in 1926 the total was $84,802,000 an increase of 138 per cent.

The lumber industry in British Columbia depends upon the waterborne trade westward to the Orient and to Australia, he pointed out, outlining vast increases in the export of lumber during the last five years over the previous period.

Pulp and paper manufacture had increased from $15,000,000 in the 1912-16 period to $74,000,000 in 1921-26. The preference of $15 a ton for the British Columbia product gained in a treaty with Australia had greatly aided this industry, he declared.

Answering criticism on the export of raw logs, Mr. Manson's figures showed that only 3.3 per cent of timber cut in 1926 in areas controlled by the Province had been exported in the raw and that only 7.7 per cent of the total timber cut in the Province had been raw exports. All the talk in the Legislature on this subject was much ado about little—or nothing—he said.

MINING

Mining production had increased 50.8 per cent in the last ten-year period, Mr. Manson showed. The figures for 1907-16 were $224,917,693 while for 1917-26, the production was $429,547,755.

"Never in the history of any part of Canada has capital flowed in for the development of minerals as it has done into British Columbia during the last five years," he declared.

Twenty-seven per cent of the mineral production of Canada was that of British Columbia, he pointed out.

FISHING

The fishing industry in British Columbia had a value in the 1907-16 period of $107,147,087 and in 1917-26 of $208,937,669, despite the depletion of salmon in the Fraser. This was an increase of 95 per cent.

In this connection, Mr. Manson referred to the development of the pilchard industry on the West Coast of Vancouver Island but also put out a warning that the government must co-operate with the United States in the preservation of the fish and the stopping of the huge slaughter of salmon.

Summing up the four basic industries, Mr. Manson's figures showed that in 1916, the total value was $124,539,897 and in 1926 it was $250,720,169. There was an increase of about $19,000,000 in the 1926 total over that of 1925 and an increase of 101 per cent over that of 1916.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

Industrial firms increased from 5,300 in 1919 to 8,058 in 1927, the incorporation of companies increased sixty per cent and the capitalization of companies over 184 per cent.

"Is capital running away from British Columbia?" he asked.

Power development, which in 1926 amounted to 460,562 horse power with an additional 477,500 horse power under development, payrolls which were two and one-half times greater in 1926 than in 1917 and and capital invested in B.C. totaling $1,837,000,000 in 1926 as against $650,000,000 in 1916 were outlined by Mr. Manson as evidences of the Province's prosperity.

The Atorney-General dwelt for several minutes on reductions in taxation, taxes now amounting to about $2,080,000 per year less than five years ago, and criticized statements by Dr. Tolmie that taxation in the province had increased 277 per cent. Mr. Manson drew comparisons with the taxes in the states of Washington and Oregon and those of British Columbia, his province being lowest in nearly every line.

FISCAL POLICY

The speaker paid considerable attention to the fiscal policy of the Province comparing the provincial debt of B.C. to that of the other provinces in Canada, showing B.C. to have by far the largest sinking fund to cover her debt and explaining that this condition had come about under the Liberal regime.

Road mileage, bridge construction, freight rates, the return of he railway lands and Peace River block, the Workmen's Compensation Act, mothers' pensions, old age pensions and several other items were mentioned by Mr. Manson, to show the progress and prosperity of the Province during the last ten years.

The meeting closed with a dance and refreshments, Mrs. Smith personally meeting many of the Esquimalt voters.

ISLAND WOMAN LOSES ACTION

Mrs. M. Douglas, Formerly of Courtenay, Plaintiff

Vancouver, May 16.—Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald dismissed the action being tried before him Tuesday in Supreme Court brought by Mrs. Margaret Douglas, Perrera Court, against the Providence Washington Insurance Company of Rhode Island. The judge announced his decision when F. S. Marsden, counsel for the plaintiff, asked for permission to throw up his brief in the case.

The suit was an endeavor to collect $2,000 insurance on furniture and effects destroyed by fire December 3 last at premises controlled by Mrs. Douglas on the Island Highway, twelve miles north of Courtenay. The defendant company alleged misrepresentation by Mrs. Douglas as to the use of the premises as a dwelling house, claiming that they had been the scene of conduct which resulted in interference by the police.

G. E. Housser appeared for the insurance company.

Oak Bay Woman Is Bereaved By Brother's Death

Mrs. S. H. Bromley-Jubb of 1047 Chamberlain Street, Oak Bay, has received the sad news of the death of her last surviving brother, Wesley Petty, who passed away at Leeds, England, aged eighty-two years. He was the son of the late Councillor J. W. Petty, founder of the Whitehall Printeries, Leeds, and the Southern Printeries, Reading, Berkshire.

The Yorkshire Post says of him:

"Mr. Petty was well known in Leeds, and also in Harrogate, where he lived for about thirty years. At one time he was president of the Leeds and Yorkshire Master Printers' Association, and in later years a member of the Council of the Leeds Chamber of Commerce.

"Though he was an active business man Mr. Petty found time to devote himself to various public movements. An earnest advocate of temperance, he was hon. secretary of the Leeds Temperance Society in 1869, and afterwards its president, and he founded the Leeds and other branches of the National Temperance Council, of which at the time of his death he was senior vice-president.

"Mr. Petty was on the boards or committees of the Leeds Extension Society, the Cookridge Convalescent Hospital and the Thoresby Society; he was a vice-president of the Leeds Y.M.C.A.; in his early days he helped to found the Leeds Amateur Vocal Association, and was on the first committee of the Leeds Philharmonic Society; and he was in recent years a member of the National Health Insurance Committee of the Leeds Corporation.

"In 1916 he was made a Freeman of the City of London, through the Guild of Feltmakers, and admitted to the Honorable Court of Assistants two years later, and he helped in the formation of a Masonic Lodge with the title of "The Feltmakers."

W.B.A. Review—Queen Alexandra Review No. 1, W.B.A., held a special meeting in the K. of C. Hall on Friday, May 11, the president, Mrs. Ritchie, presiding. Mrs. Minnie W. Hydelotte, supreme regional director, and Mrs. Lora W. Baker, provincial field director, were in attendance. Initiation took place and a travel talk was given by Mr. Blaney of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the European cruise to be taken by the W.B.A. in 1929. President Mrs. Ritchie, on behalf of the review, presented Mrs. Hydelotte and Mrs. Baker with tokens of appreciation. The meeting closed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Creighton and her committee. The next meeting will take place on Monday, May 21, after which a ("Mother's Day social" will be held. On Saturday, May 19 a home-cooking stall will be held in David Spencer's Limited. Members are asked to leave their parcels with Miss Reed, Royal Dairy, View Street.

Welcome Club—The Welcome Club will meet on Thursday, May 17, at the Y.W.C.A. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock. Any girls who would care to join in these weekly meetings will be heartily welcomed. It will be missionary evening and Mrs. Hewitt will be the speaker.

Cramped Quarters

"That fellow must live in a very small flat."

"How can you possibly tell that?"

"Don't you notice that his dog wags its tail up and down instead of sideways."

DANGER

Your tongue is the best barometer of your physical condition. Look at it every morning before breakfast. If it is coated with white, yellow or brown coloring, and does not have a clean red appearance you are constipated and not well.

Heed Its Warning

Constipation causes more ailments than all other diseases, and is the result of not having a daily bowel movement. Sick-headache, indigestion, biliousness and sallow complexion follow. Ask your druggist for a 25c red paper package of CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS "Safe Laxative". Take a dose to-night and continue one pill after each meal. Don't stop—until your tongue is clean. You will be surprised at the tonic effect this doctor's formula will have on you.

Island Institutes Choose Directors; Many Fine Reports

Miss Gildea Urges Discipline in Homes as Part of the Child's Education in Good Citizenship

(By Times Representative)

Duncan, May 15.—Mrs. Frank Campbell of Victoria, the present president; Mrs. Williams, Strawberry Vale; Mrs. R. Brown, Happy Valley and Luxton; Mrs. R. Nimmo, Saanich, and Mrs. Stone, Royal Oak will constitute the new board of directors of the Island women's institutes, their election being one of the leading features of this afternoon's session of the annual conference. Officers will be chosen by the board later.

District conveners for the year were elected as follows:

Agriculture, Mrs. T. C. Robson, Vimy; public health and child welfare, Mrs. Booth, Esquimalt; education and better schools, Mrs. Harrison, Parksville; legislation, Mrs. F. Campbell, Victoria; immigration, Mrs. W. Peden, Victoria; publicity and national events, Mrs. Whitney Griffiths, Metchosin; W. I. work and mehods, Mrs. J. Duncan, Sayward; industries, Mrs. J. Moseley, Denman Island; community betterment, Mrs. Parnell, Hornby Island; League of Nations, Mrs. Henderson Lawrie, South Saanich.

EXHIBITS OF WORK

Exhibitions of women's work, placed around the room, aroused much interest. This included a crochet quilt shown by Mrs. T. C. Robson, Vimy Institue, which was made in Glasgow in 1792; paintings by Mrs. F. S. Leather, handwork by Mrs. F. G. Christmas, Mrs. C. F. Davie, Duncan; patchwork by Mrs. McPherson, Cobble Hill; rugs from Cobble Hill, baskets, wonderful embroideries, etc.

RESOLUTIONS REPORT

The Mayor cordially welcomed the delegates, Mrs. W. Peden responding to the civic greeting. After the president's address, Mrs. Nimmo, vice-president, took the chair, while Mrs. Frank Campbell read the report of the resolutions committee. Among the resolutions was one from Shawnigan Institute concerning inspection of schools, a reply to which by Dr. MacLean, was read; one concerning Orientals in British Columbia, and that from Royal Oak Institute concerning the creation of legal status for the district institute on the same basis as that enjoyed by the provincial board. This was referred back to the individual institutes for discussion and voting so that delegates might come to the meeting with instructed vote. Lake Hill's resolution, protesting against employment of married women, led to a recommendation that it be referred to the local Council of Women, Trades and Labor Councils, or similar urban groups.

HANDICRAFTS DISCUSSED

Mrs. Dyer presented a fine report on industries, Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan leading the discussion. She described the events leading the adoption of the Chinook design for rugs, the consideration of working up to a market and the method of advertisement to bring these crafts to the attention of the tourist. The recent display at the Home Products Fair had been productive of much good, as had also the rug and quilt exhibit in Vancouver.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon urged the best work only in the making of rugs and quilts noting that skilfully made rag rugs could command $25, while a Colwood delegate observed that a well-made rag rug at the Fall Fair had fetched $50. Mrs. MacLachlan emphasized the need of proper instruction in making the products, pointing to the home handicrafts shop started in Victoria which had gone out of business owing to the poor workmanship of the goods.

NEW COMMITTEE

The new resolutions committee appointed by Mrs. F. Campbell, chairman, were: Mrs. Booth, Esquimalt, convener; Mrs. Harrison, Parksville and Mrs. Webster, Lake Hill.

REPORTS READ

Reports showing the amount of work done and money raised by each Institute were read by Mrs. Anderson, Shirley; Mrs. Gannon, Shawnigan; Mrs. Wise, Esquimalt; Mrs. Jackson, South Salt Spring; Mrs. Webster, Lake Hill; Mrs. Styan, South Saanich. As Mrs. S. H. Dyer was unfortunately unable to be present at the conference, Mrs. Campbell read the report on "Industries," and a very lengthy discussion on this subject followed, led by Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan. She spoke of rug making, glove making, lace, etc.

For the afternoon session the delegates were entertained by the Vimy Institute, Gibbins Road, where supper was also served.

MISS GILDEA'S ADDRESS

Miss Gildea's address on "Education" was listened to with close attention and was most instructive.

Miss Gildea combined humor with instruction and carried her audience with her throughout her discourse.

"If I were to praise your educational system you would call me a conceited thing," she said, "if I should criticize you would say 'what does she know about it?' All women have something or other to do with children and their education; But is education what we learn from books or what we learn from life's experience? What we learn from books ought to help us to widen our experience.

HOME DISCIPLINE

"One of the scientific foundations of education is to quicken our powers of observation, and the capability of grasping a situation and forming an opinion on it.

It is sometimes said that this generation is growing up less responsible than its forebears, but with education as good as a country can get it, the wrong lies in the home."

Speaking with admiration for the pioneers of this country, Miss Gildea thought that they were sometimes too physically tired to enforce the discipline necessary from four to ten years.

"From one year to three, you cannot better the care that is given to our tiny citizens, but after that only health seems to be considered — discipline never," said Miss Gildea.

NANCY MILLER IS STILL CHRISTIAN

London, May 16.—The Daily Express to-morrow will print a dispatch from its Paris correspondent quoting Sir Tukoji Rao, former Maharajah of Indore, as saying that by marrying the former Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, he has extended his hand to the West and that it is for the West to understand this gesture.

His wife is quoted as saying: "Don't think that by adopting Hinduism I had to give up Christianity. I have never given it up."

BIRDS ANALAGOUS TO HUMAN BEINGS

Women's Canadian Club Hear Whimsical Address on Bird Life

"As with human beings, so it is with the birds, in that the elite go South for the Winter and the elect stay at home," was one of the amusing analogies between bird life and humans drawn by J. W. Winson of Huntingdon, B.C., in a most interesting and whimsical address before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

The speaker, widely known by his nature stories under the pseudonym of "Wildwood," opened his analogy by reminding his hearers that birds and human beings were the only creatures on the earth to walk on two legs. Even in their dress there was a resemblance to humans in that the female bird wore a close-fitting "tailored" garb, "ending at the knees," while the male bird bent on courtship sported brilliant plumage, reminiscent of the male human, who was given to rather colorful ties at such times. The bird was the only other feature which possessed this trait.

USE OF COSMETICS

The birds also resembled women in the use of "cosmetics," the heron and the pigeon manufacturing a species of talcum with which to powder their feathers, while some of the sea birds carry "cold cream" in the form of an oil gland in their tails with which to preen themselves, he said.

Emancipation of the female started in bird life many years ago, Mr. Winson humorously observed. In the majority of species the mother bird sat on the nest and hatched out the young, after which the father took a hand in the upbringing of the youngsters. But with the ostrich the male bird takes his shift on the eggs, it "being a sitting-down job, anyway."

Birds were the only other creatures besides humans deliberately to practice deceit, said Mr. Winson, telling of the address simulated by birds when their young appeared to be in danger.

EIGHTY WORMS PER DAY

Some of the habits of birds were described in interesting fashion. Certain birds, such as the robins, were ardent property-holders, building their nest in some favored spot with a goodly supply of worms at hand and keeping all other robins away with their shrill cries. The reason for this was that the average consumption of a baby robin per day was eighty worms, so that in a nest of four the parents between them paid 300 visits per day to the nest with the luscious morsels. A tiny bird could not live for more than twenty minutes or half an hour without food, so that the parents had a busy time until the young were able to do their own foraging.

MUST CONSERVE BIRDS

After observing that in the half hour before dawn the song of the birds was a symphony well worth hearing, Mr. Winson appealed to the women to give all the assistance in their power to the matter of bird conservation. The bird was the natural enemy of the insects which annually caused millions of dollars' worth of damage, and a significant feature of the rapid disappearance of the forests and their bird life was the rapid encroachment of an army of aphis, caterpillars and all the other enemies of plant life.

Mrs. P. McNaughthon presided at the meeting, and Miss Betty Savannah sang a little French chanson, followed by an Irish number, with Mrs. C. C. Warn at the piano, contributing much to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

CHILDREN'S AID HOME TAG DAY

To raise funds for the building of a much-needed home for the Children's Aid, a tag day will be held on Saturday. Although the home is largely maintained by the city, the matter of improvement of quarters is one dependent upon the generosity of the kindly-disposed, and the committee hopes the public will remember the children on Saturday.

WED TO-DAY AT QUIET CEREMONY

Mrs. M. F. Matthews, Centennial Organist, Bride of Paul L. Green

A quiet, pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hopkins, 316 Moss Street, to-day at 3 p.m., when their only daughter, Mrs. Margretta F. Matthews, was given in marriage by her father to Paul Leggath Green, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Green, of this city, formerly of Smetson, Norfolk, England.

Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present at the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. W. P. Westman of Centennial United Church, where the bride has been organist for a number of years. A buffet luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Green took the boat for Seattle, Mt. Rainier and Portland. They will be at home after June 1 at 1211 Oscar Street, Victoria.

Mrs. Green has long been a popular member of the executive of the Women's Canadian Club, acting as accompanist at the meetings.

Twin Belts

Some frocks go in so strongly for belts this Spring that one does not suffice. A green and white printed silk has two one-inch suede belts, the top one white, the bottom green. They are placed two inches apart.

Printed Coat

The printed coat over plain material in the frock is one of Paris' interpretations of the mode. Black shadowed chrysanthemums on white background makes the coat of one white frock.

HOME HINTS

Pastel organdie makes a dainty powder puff container for the guest room.

Centennial Guest Tea — The Centennial Ladies' Aid will hold a guest tea to-morrow in the schoolroom from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock. Entertainment will be furnished by the pupils of Mrs. Wilfred Ord. The musical numbers will be supplied by singers who distinguished themselves in the recent musical festival. All friends of the society are cordially invited.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

THE COMMON PROBLEM OF THE ADVISING RELATIVE

Polly writes—"I want to voice my appreciation first for your interesting and common-sense articles. They have helped me enormously many times. My baby is nine months old, good, healthy, happy, and yet I have a problem. My relatives, just splendid in most ways, and who adore the baby, have the old-fashioned ideas about baby rearing. Oh, the trials of a new mother putting her baby on a regular schedule, giving cod liver oil, etc. Their children were raised such and such a way and look at them. Yes, I am often tempted to say, 'Look at them!'

"I followed a doctor's diet strictly and had an easy time. But my aunts believed a mother should taste everything so that later the baby would not 'want' this. I disregarded them and strange as it may seem the baby hasn't a blemish. But she has an adorable trick of holding her pink tongue between her lips when she is deeply interested, and, would you believe it, they call this a 'sign' that she wants something. They insist on giving her tastes of everything for until we find the right thing she won't be cured. If she likes it they give her more, because their children had it and it didn't hurt. I am young and I don't want to hurt their feelings, but sometimes I would like to move to Timbuctoo and rear my baby as I like."

ANSWER

First let me thank you for your appreciative comment of the column. Yours is the common problem of youth trying to struggle against the prejudices and the superstitions that age holds to so firmly. It is typical of older persons that they cannot be convinced that anything that is can possibly be as good as anything that was. If the grown-up of to-day were not so burdened with ills which the modern parent feels sure she can prevent by better attention to diet and regularity and all the methods in use to-day, she would not be so ready to pass up old-time methods. It cannot be denied, however, that there is vast room for improvement.

To attribute such a meaning to the tongue trick is just absurd. Babies always stick their tongues out, more or less, this being one of the ways in which they exercise their facial apparatus. If they didn't they would be strange babies, as every organ of the baby's body comes in for whatever kind of activity it is capable of performing. Don't antagonize the kind relatives, simply pay no attention to them.

BEAUTY

How and Why

By ANN ALYSIS

Of all the skin blemishes, the most hated by sensitive women is unwanted hair. And they will try almost anything that is recommended in order to free themselves of this disfiguring growth.

There are three ways in which this may be accomplished—by means of chemicals, mechanical means and by electricity. The chemicals used for this purpose are called depilatories and have the property of dissolving horny substances, and as might be expected of drugs having such caustic qualities, also have a very irritating effect on the skin. Indeed, the thing we must fear in all skin applications, is their setting up such an irritation as may spread, or become so deep seated as to be difficult to cure.

Mechanical means, such as tweezers, are preferred by some people, while others find the small safety razor the answer to their problem. The so-called wax removers have been found satisfactory by many.

Removing hair by means of electricity is thought by many to be the best method, but this too, at times causes irritation. It seems as though that risk must be run no matter which method is chosen.

If Men Planned the Desserts

I'm inclined to think that if the men of the family planned the desserts, there'd be a big decline in the use of whipped cream and candied cherries, but a corresponding increase in food value.

The trimmings and flourishes which seem to most women so important a part of a dessert are pretty much wasted on the men of the family. Give them good, wholesome food—unadorned—and they are content.

There's a golden opportunity to work into your desserts the extra milk needed to bring each member of the family's quota up to the prescribed quart a day. Custards and milk-puddings, bread pudding, blanc mange, caramel tapioca—all of them call for a generous use of milk and add food value to the menu. Today I give a recipe for a delicious Lemon Rice Cream. Made with Carnation Milk, it has a rich creaminess, a smooth delicacy of texture that even the best of bottled milk cannot equal.

How "Homogenization" Helps

Carnation Milk is simply the purest of whole milk, evaporated to double richness and sterilized for safe-keeping. It is also "homogenized"—the cream content broken up into minute particles and distributed throughout the milk, giving every drop its generous double-share of enriching cream. The extra-fine cream particles give an extra-fine, smooth texture to all foods in which Carnation Milk is used. Soups are richer, sauces creamier, cakes finer textured and better-keeping, ice creams smoother, candies, pies and puddings more delicious because of the use of this better milk.

I want you to give Carnation Milk the severest test—compare its results with those you've had using ordinary milk. You'll find it more convenient, more economical, more dependable than milk in any other form. Or if you have confined its use to special dishes which you have discovered are notably delicious made with Carnation, let me help you extend that deliciousness to all your cooking. Let me send you free the Carnation Cook Book—"My Hundred Favorite Recipes." Address Carnation Milk Products Co., Limited, 134 Abbott Street, Vancouver, B.C.

Carnation Lemon Rice Cream

⅓ cup rice, 1½ cups Carnation Milk, 1½ cups water, ⅔ cup sugar, grated rind of ¾ lemon, 2½ tbsp. lemon juice, ¾ tsp. salt, 2 eggs, 2 tbsp. powdered sugar, ½ tbsp. lemon extract. Soak washed rice 1 hour in cold water. Drain; add milk, water, salt; cook in double boiler until rice is soft; add sugar, rind, lemon juice, slightly beaten egg yolks. Cook until thick (about 5 minutes); put in buttered baking dish; cover with meringue of egg whites, powdered sugar, lemon extract; brown in 300°F. oven.

More Food Value

FEWER frills and more "regular" food—that's what most men want. But they like flavor too. Let Carnation Milk help you put both flavor and food value into plain dishes. Its double richness and creamy smoothness do it.

SEE PHYSICIAN REGULARLY, SAYS KIWANIS SPEAKER

"Look Over" Prevents Serious Illness, Dr. Gordon Kenning Points Out

Advocating regular periodic medical examinations, Dr. Gordon Kenning yesterday gave the Kiwanis Club weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel a review of the modern attitude towards preventive medicine.

Dr. Kenning considered that much of the patronage accorded charlatans, quacks, mystics and faith healers was the result of the practice of the medical and nursing professions, in past years, of maintaining a screen of professional reserve towards the public and their patients. This was being abandoned by the more progressive medical men of to-day and patients were being informed fully as to their conditions.

Dr. Kenning stated that many cases were known where patients had refused to follow arbitrary instructions of the medical men, given without explanations as to reasons, preferring the advice of neighbors, grocery clerks or even butcher boys. It was no wonder therefore that large followings were obtained by plausible charlatans.

MUCH BEEN LEARNED

After paying a tribute to the late Surgeon General Gorgas as a leader in preventive medicine and the man who made the Panama Canal possible, Dr. Kenning declared that smallpox was being brought under control and could be wiped out but for the activities of persons who refuse to recognize incontrovertible evidence. Continuance of smallpox was due to ignorance and prejudice and was a blot on civilized communities.

Diphtheria was no longer the fearsome affliction it was considered a few years ago. Children could now be tested to discover if susceptible to the disease, and if they reacted to the test, can be immunized by a simple treatment.

Dr. Kenning stated that tuberculosis was being gradually brought under control, but there were many diseases, especially those developing symptoms in middle life, with which science had as yet made little progress. He mentioned diseases of the heart and circulation, kidney diseases and tumors, particularly cancerous tumors.

LACK OF WARNING

These developed at the time of life when the sufferer was at the stage of greatest usefulness to the community. Most of these afflictions were amenable to treatment in the early stages, but generally at that time they were unaccompanied by pain.

It was because of this condition that Dr. Kenning recommended periodic health examinations, pointing out that an ounce of prevention was worth a pound of cure. The value to the nation of general adoption of periodic examinations was beyond calculation, and large insurance companies had found that extensive health propaganda had returned tremendous dividends on vast sums expended in this work, by prolonging the lives of the insured.

Dr. Kenning regretted the tendency among people of middle age to accept aches, pains and ailments as a matter of course. He likened the human system to an automobile, pointing out that the motor must be in good condition and expertly operated to give satisfaction. "We doctors do not get the chance to train the drivers of the human machine. We are called in to fix stripped gears damaged too often by faulty driving," he pointed out.

CARE NEEDED

"The sooner the public realizes that a 'look over,' an 'adjustment,' or maybe a prescription, does not constitute an examination, the better for the public," declared Dr. Kenning, remarking that the more superficial the knowledge of the charlatan, the more dogmatic his statements are liable to be.

He sketched the wide range of facts to be ascertained by the careful examiner before a diagnosis was possible, this inquiry including a scrutiny of family history in addition to a minute study of the patient.

Dr. Kenning noted that expensive equipment for the study of the human body has been invented in recent years and is available in modern hospitals for the use of the wealthy who pay and the poor who obtain free service. He regretted that people of small means, who refuse to accept charity, hesitate to undertake the cost involved in the use of this equipment.

STYLE, IN CHINA—When milday promenades in Peking, China, she must be prepared at the first sign of wind to wrap her head in her scarf, as protection against the dust storms in the capital. Foreign knitted silk mufflers with fringes are considered very stylish. Notice the trouser-encased knees.

SCHOOLBOYS AID STRICKEN WAIFS

"Golden Rulers" Contribute to Near East Relief

How to make twelve inches equal forty miles is the problem on which the boys of St. Michael's School are successfully working this week. Without waiting for the appearance of a speaker to tell them of the needs of the wards of the Near East Relief and Save the Children's Fund they had secured a number of Golden Rulers each with a capacity for twelve dimes and when the director, Mr. Handsaker, appeared before them this week he found that sixteen rulers had already been filled and at the conclusion of his address everyone of the eighty boys voted to do his best to fill a ruler.

"It is still true that twelve inches make one foot but in this case twelve inches make forty miles of travel from the Near East to Canada," stated Mr. Handsaker. "Out in Syria is a boy whose Armenian name is Gervant Gambochian, the English equivalent of which is Arthur Sexton. Gervant was promised a home in Canada several years ago but the people who promised to bring him to this land of plenty failed him and bitter was his disappointment. When the Rev. Major C. C. Owen, chairman of the provincial committee of the Save the Children Fund and Near East Relief heard of this he proposed to satisfy the boy's ambition to become a good citizen of Canada by making him an inmate of his own home. The papers for the admission of Gervant are now on the way to Ottawa."

"It did not seem fair to the committee to allow Major Owen to meet all these expenses and they were confident that many of his friends would want to bear part of the expense of bringing the boy over. We are now trying to secure special rates for the boy and if we should fail in this way we know we can bring him the 10,000 miles from Syria to Vancouver for $300, about three cents a mile. When I told the boys of St. Michael's about this boy and that every twelve inches of their rulers meant forty miles of travel to Canada for a boy as fine as they are they immediately decided there would be more fun in working out such a problem than in keeping their money for themselves. In addition to the gift from St. Michael's School a friend in Victoria is contributing $100 through Fred Landsberg the local treasurer and a pledge of $50 to the same fund was received sometime ago. We are confidently hoping that the entire amount may be secured in a few days so that after the matter is cleared at the immigration office the boy may be on his way.

There are two other boys who are eager to come to Canada but their coming means waiting on our securing funds for their transportation. Any boy or girl in British Columbia who wishes to help bring these boys over may receive a Golden Ruler on application to Mr. Landsberg at 641 Fort Street, Victoria, B.C.

BOY, 4, SMOKES—Doctors have been amazed by Freddie Riggs, four-year-old Seattle boy, who has been smoking cigars since he was a year old and is healthy, mentally and physically. Freddie's mother has tried to make him quit tobacco, but when his cigars are taken away he refuses to eat. Judging from the above picture, it's a little tough when the smoke gets into a fellow's eye.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

"What are we educating our children for? The Kingdom of Heaven on Earth, 'Good Citizenship.' If the children of to-day are only allowed to think of themselves, they will never be happy, give them the wider interest of citizenship for the sake of the home. We have laid the foundation of a wonderful Dominion, we are the result of the generation behind us, and our children are the result of those behind them.

"We must teach our children the difference between right and wrong; the thing that is right will never hurt our neighbor in the long run; anything that is wrong hurts them somehow or other, sooner of later. Education is leading us to keep the world at its highest levels. Not to hurt anyone else by our conduct, is the secret of self-control. We must learn to widen our horizon, and to make ourselves worthy representatives of a great country,' she continued.

AGRICULTURE AND SCHOOLS

Mrs. T. C. Robson, president of the Vimy W.I., before giving her report on agriculture, expressed the great pleasure that the members of her institute felt in welcoming the conference.

The report on "Education and Better Schools" was sent by Mrs. Spragge and read by Mrs. MacLachlan. Seven institutes have assisted in improving schools and grounds in Island district schools, and given libraries, pictures, etc. Playground space is sufficient in all but two of the schools. Only four institutes have considered the school survey. Mrs. Austen, Strawberry Vale; Mrs. Chambers, Cedar, and Mrs. Stone, Royal Oak, gave reports of the work of their institutes.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon gave a report on "Institute Work and Methods," giving a resume of all work done by the institutes, during the year. Mrs. Bernard reported on community betterment.

Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan gave an interesting address, outlining the programme for the coming year.

At the evening session a report on "Publicity and Public Events," by Mrs. Mitchell, district convener, was read.

PERILS OF DEMOCRACY

Hon. Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald in a most interesting address on democracy or, as he expressed it, "the perils of democracy" made a plea for the teaching of political administration in the schools.

The best brains of the nation must be harnessed to its needs, and democracy did that in war-time, as was illustrated in the Great War, he said. Sometimes, however, it did not exercise that judgment in time of peace, and instead accorded to mediocrity ill-fitted power. An ill-informed vote was often unprogressive. It had come about in Europe that the Great War had nearly destroyed democracy. Had there been universal franchise in the nineteenth century, the British North America Act would not have passed, and there would have been no Jubilee celebration of Confederation as they had observed last year. Democracy, curiously, feared itself, and constantly erected barriers against possible evils, practically against its own aberrations. Had the modern woman been eligible for the Senate she would have found herself sharing in a non-democratic body. Political administrative education was not an avenue to socialism, but the training of man in pure science, to direct national affairs, promote true domestic policies within, and foreign policies without.

REEVE AND COUNCIL GUESTS

The Reeve and council of North Cowichan were entertained at supper, to meet the delegates to the conference, by the Vimy Institute, and a very pleasing item was a programme of dances by the pupils of Meyers Russell School of Dancing.

I.O.D.E. Chapter Met—Mrs. Wm. Ellis, the Chapter's delegate to the provincial annual meeting held last month in Vancouver, gave an interesting and comprehensive report to the meeting of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E., which was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. S. Colgate, Wellington Avenue. Mrs. Gordon Smith was appointed the Chapter's delegate to the National Chapter's annual meeting. The Chapter decided to make a wreath for Queen Victoria's statue for May 24, and will also decorate the Cross of Sacrifice and the Sailors' Monument at Ross Bay for the month of May. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Hudson, Moss Street.

Canadian Daughters—The Canadian Daughters' League held their regular meeting last evening in the Native Sons' of Canada Hall, View Street, which was well attended. The new officers were in charge. The league endorsed the resolution of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, asking that Canada, as a member of the League of Nations, should accept the principle of settling all international differences, not diplomatically adjusted, by reference to the Permanent Court of International Justice, or by arbitration.

Don't Be a Jay Rider

10 Commandments for Cyclists

1 Keep to the right and near the curb.
2 Meeting traffic pass on right, overtaking traffic pass on left.
3 Turn right close to curb. Turn left around centre of intersections.
4 Raise one arm when stopping, and slowing up and to indicate direction when turning.
5 Ride straight. Don't wobble.
6 Watch for STOP signs and traffic officers' signals.
7 Give traffic coming from right the right of way at intersections.
8 Do not hang on to moving vehicles.
9 Don't "cut in" in front of a moving car.
10 Keep your feet on the pedals—your hands on the handlebars.

"THE BICYCLE

is one of the safest vehicles of locomotion," says Mr. J. F. H. Wyse, General Manager of the Ontario Safety League.

Let's make it safer.

Last year out of over five thousand traffic accidents, in Ontario, involving automobiles, trucks, busses, bicycles and pedestrians, there were only five fatally serious bicycle accidents involving children under 16.

But even these may be lessened. They can be reduced to zero. Let motorists show every care for cyclists. Let bicycle riders this year ride still more carefully. Obey the traffic rules and signals. Safety First! Watch out for the traffic. Take no chances. Don't be a jay rider.

Glenna Collett Eliminated

American Star, With Two Sister Golfers, Loses At Hunstanton

Miss Mabel Wragg, Yorkshire Champion, Defeats the Favorite American Player by 3 and 2; Two Other Young British Players Put Americans Out of Running; Mrs. Campbell Hurd, Former British and Canadian Champion, Only American Left in Running

Hunstanton, Eng., May 16.—Three United States contenders, including Miss Glenna Collett, former United States and Canadian women's golf champion, were eliminated in the fourth round play of the British women's open championship to-day.

Miss Mabel Wragg, Yorkshire champion, eliminated Miss Collett, 3 up and 2 to play.

Miss Joy Winn defeated Miss Elizabeth Curtiss, of Clinton, Ia., 6 and 5.

Miss Molly Gourlay, English champion, in 1926, defeated Mrs. Stewart Hanley, of Detroit, 7 and 6.

UPSET OF YEAR

Miss Collett's defeat at the hands of the Yorkshire champion is regarded as one of the year's greatest upsets in British golf. The match was played under adverse conditions, which included rain, hail and a cold gale. Miss Wragg's victory was due at least in part to the manner in which she adjusted her game to the prevailing weather.

Miss Collett's defeat came on the sixteenth green when she smothered her drive and later putted past the hole.

TERRIBLE WEATHER

Storm conditions such as veterans of many British golf championships have rarely seen, prevailed to-day when the third day's play of the championship started. Sheets of chilling rain and hail flooded the course and half a gale swept in from the northwest.

Miss Collett's defeat left only one United States woman in the championship, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, who, as Dorothy Campbell, won the championship in 1911. Mrs. Hurd was born in England and has lived in Canada, where she won the Canadian women's title. Mrs. Hurd defeated Miss Aline Dobson, a veteran English player, 5 and 3.

Hunstanton, Eng., May 16.—Much interest was taken in yesterday's match, in which Miss Collett beat Mrs. Dobell.

Mrs. Dobell tasted the full joy of victory in both the American and British championships when Glenna was just learning the game. She is still the happy-go-lucky golfer Americans knew when, as Gladys Ravenscroft, she won the United States title in 1913. Nowadays she is more interested in her "mixed foursome" at home—two little boys and two little girls—than championship golf, but she carried the American titleholder to the sixteenth hole by winning the fifteenth after her opponent was dormie.

WORK ON GREEN GOOD

Miss Collett's supporters found much satisfaction yesterday in the fact that, in contrast to her play with Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume on Monday she never faltered on the greens, or near them. From the very first one, where she stepped up confidently and sent a five-footer into the cup, on through to the sixteenth, where she chipped dead from an indifferent lie over a knoll guarding the green, she was deadly accurate. She holed a chip for a fine birdie three at the fifth and her putting touch held true throughout the match.

Mrs. Dobell did not win a hole on the outward nine, although she had several chances. Her failure to grasp her opportunity at the seventh seemed to convince her that Glenna was invincible. The American's tee shot overran the green and into a big bunker. Two strokes were necessary to get the ball out. Mrs. Dobell also was in the bunker but came out in one only to miss her putt. Miss Collett chipped perfectly, and confidently holed a longer putt than Mrs. Dobell missed to get a half in five.

LAWN BOWLERS VERY ACTIVE

Newly-organized Hudson's Bay Club Opens Season; News of Other Clubs

The newly organized Hudson's Bay Lawn Bowling Club opened its season at Hampton Road Green this afternoon under most encouraging circumstances. There was a large attendance of players of both sexes.

The Greater Victoria August Tournament committee is receiving encouraging support.

The Duncan Club will visit Victoria on May 24, playing at Beacon Hill in the morning and Burnside in the afternoon.

The Burnside Club is holding an important meeting on Thursday evening, when a full attendance of members is hoped for.

A feature of the open tournament in August will be a competition for trios of men and women. This is already having the effect of increasing the membership of the ladies' clubs in British Columbia.

A rink of ladies from Duncan will likely be seen in action at Burnside on May 24. Their fine exhibition last year is still fresh in the minds of those who were fortunate enough to witness it.

Entries for all club competitions are now being filled up at all the local greens, Beacon Hill being especially active this week.

PORT ANGELES TO PLAY HERE

Capitals Will Oppose Visiting Baseballers in Double-header Saturday

Baseball fans will have two games offered for their benefit Saturday afternoon when the Victoria Capitals will entertain Port Angeles in a double-header at the Royal Athletic Park. The first game is scheduled for 2.30 o'clock and the second for 6.15 p.m. Allie McGregor will umpire both games.

Port Angeles will be making their first appearance here since May 24 last. They have a snappy club with practically all of last year's players. Dick Irvin, their star pitcher, is with them again this season and will no doubt make his appearance here Saturday.

Ray Parfitt has been selected to twirl the opening game for the Capitals, while Blunt will take the mound in the second. The latter is a newcomer to Victoria. He has lots of smoke and the Capitals are anxious to see how he goes in action.

Bill Peden Wins Three Races and Gets Two Gifts

Several good races were seen last night at the Royal Athletic Park in the opening weekly handicap staged by the Victoria Cycling Club.

An interesting presentation took place when Bill Peden, Victoria's crack rider, was the recipient of a riding suit from the City Council, and a club bag from the members of the bicycle club. Alderman James Adam made the presentation. Peden will leave in a short time for the Canadian Olympic trial to be held in the East.

In the three Class "A" events Bill carried off the honors with ease.

Results of the races were as follows:

CLASS "A"

Quarter mile—1, Bill Peden; 2, Beverly Peden; 3, Frank Rose. Time, .35.

Half mile—1, Bill Peden; 2, Beverly Peden; 3, Frank Rose. Time, 1.09.

Two miles—1, Bill Peden; 2, Glen Robbins; 3, Jack Woodley. Time, 6.02.

CLASS "B"

Half mile—1, G. Farmer; 2, Basil Peden; 3, G. Parrott. Time, 1.13.

BOYS UNDER FOURTEEN

Half mile—1, G. Scott; 2, B. Wensley; 3, C. Peden. Time, 1.23.

Quarter mile—1, R. B. Ballantyne; 2, John Bruce; 3, B. Wensley. Time, .40.

Young and Old Sportsmen Rallying to Support of Famous Local Club

Reports Made on New Improvements at Club Quarters and Regatta

Every indication points to the James Bay Athletic Association becoming one of the largest and finest clubs of its kind on the entire Pacific Coast. At each monthly meeting of the club many new members are being elected to membership.

There is a great rally on to get the association back to the pre-eminent position it occupied before the war. The phenominal success which attended the club's rowing team at the annual regatta of the N.P.A.A.O. last year, coupled with the establishment of new and more commodious quarters at the Gorge, has caused both younger and older sportsmen in Victoria to take a new interest in the club.

NEW MEMBERS

Two score new members were admitted to membership in the club at a meeting last night. Other applications are now in the hands of the secretary, and will be ballotted on at the next meeting, by which time many additional names will be up for election.

Reports were made at last night's meeting on the progress made in the many improvements being carried out at the Gorge. Reports were also made on the regatta to be held at the Gorge on May 24.

FOREIGN CHAMP MEETS DEFEAT

Jack Dorval Checks Advance of Norwegian Heavyweight King, Con Porat

Chicago, May 16.—Napoleon Jack Dorval checked Otto von Porat's string of knockouts last night when he won the verdict of the judges over the Norwegian heavyweight champion in ten rounds of savage fighting at the Coliseum.

The result was a distinct surprise, as the melancholy Norseman had knocked out four previous opponents in record time.

Dorval weighed 207 pounds and fought a courageous battle with his left eye completely closed for nine rounds. He showed excellent boxing skill and a cagey defence in avoiding Von Porat's sleep producing right.

FAIRLY EVEN

The battle, fought before a crowd of 9,000 with receipts around $20,000, was fairly even until they went into the last session.

Frankie Sims, a Cleveland 205 pounder, won on a foul from Tony Stabenau of Buffalo in the fourth round when Stabenau hit him while he was resting on one knee after a knockdown. Stabenau previously had scored three knockdowns.

Morgan Gardner, son of George Gardner, one-time world's light-heavyweight champion, defeated Jack Raymond of Chicago in the four-round opened. Gardner scored a knockdown in the last round. They are light-heavyweights.

High School to Stage Annual Gym Exhibition

The Victoria High School is staging its annual gymnasium display on May 18 and 19 at the school. The affair promises to furnish some excellent entertainment as the programme will contain a variety of numbers, including dancing, boxing, singing and apparatus work.

Miss E. Rice and T. Roper, physical instructors of the school, are managing the practical end of the entertainment and a good display is expected from their combined efforts.

SID TERRIS WINS

Denver, May 16.—Sid Terris, New York lightweight, won the decision in a fast ten-round bout with Eddie Mack, Denver, here last night.

American Clubs Waive on Sisler

Washington, May 16.—The Evening Star said yesterday that all American League clubs have waived their rights to purchase George Sisler, Washington first baseman, and for a decade star of that league. He may be sold to a National League club or, if they waive on him, released as a free agent.

Babe Ruth furnished most of the action in the "Big Six" yesterday, blasting his way into a tie for first place in the standing with two home runs and a triple in five trips to the plate. His average is .382. Tied with him is Rogers Hornsby, who had two hits in two times at bat.

Paul Waner, the former leader, went hitless in three attempts while his teammates were being swamped by Brooklyn.

Ty Cobb and Frank Frisch led the second division with .330 each. Cobb also went hitless in four times at bat, while Frisch got one blow in three tries.

The standing is as follows:

	G.	AB.	R.	H.	Pct.
Ruth, Yanks	26	89	34	34	.382
Hornsby, Braves	28	89	19	34	.382

TO FIGHT TUNNEY IN SEPTEMBER?

JACK DEMPSEY

Los Angeles, May 16.—The Examiner says to-day that Jack Dempsey has hit the road again on the start of another fistic campaign. The former champion, since his return from the East a short time ago, has been jogging and hiking over the Los Feliz hills with "Jerry the Greek," his trainer, at his heels as of yore.

Yesterday afternoon he gave habitues of "cauliflower alley" a thrill by showing up at an uptown gymnasium and working out for twenty minutes. He punched the bag, tugged at the pulleys, did some snappy shadow boxing and otherwise conducted himself as any boxer in training.

Last night the word went around that he wanted sparring partners for his workout to-day.

It also developed that Dempsey was in long distance communication with Tex Rickard for some time last night.

Also that Dempsey is reported to have told a close friend in Los Angeles that "If Rickard meets my terms I'll fight Tunney in September."

"For the last six months Dempsey has been unusually firm in his often-repeated declarations that he was through with the ring," the paper says. "All this recent activity would indicate that Dempsey is planning still another final fling with the gloves."

Chicago Cubs Climb Into Tie For First Place With the Reds

Cincinnati Lost Yesterday While Cubs Stretch Winning Streak to Ten Games; Ruth Punches Out Two Home Runs in One Game and Is Eight Days Ahead of His Schedule of Last Year; Speaker Hits Three Doubles to Help Athletics Win

George Herman Ruth slugged two balls into the grandstands at New York yesterday to aid the Yanks down the Detroit Tigers for the fourth straight day, 12 to 8, and put himself eight games ahead of the schedule that carried him to a new home run record of sixty last season. Both of Ruth's homers came with the bases empty. Ruth's tenth homer was made off Whitehill in the fifth inning and the eleventh off Smith in the sixth. He now has eleven home runs.

The Philadelphia Athletics kept within striking distance of the champions by beating Cleveland at Philadelphia, 5 to 0. Jack Quinn pitched wonderful ball, granting the invaders only six hits. Tris Speaker hit three doubles.

RED SOX TAKE ANOTHER

Charlie Ruffing allowed only five hits as the Boston Red Sox ran their winning streak to four games at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, 3-1.

The Chicago White Sox made good use of their six hits and beat the Washington Senators 3-2.

The Chicago Cubs moved into a tie with the Cincinnati Reds by beating the New York Giants for the fourth time, 10-7, while the Reds were losing to Philadelphia 5-3.

Hurst, a recruit first-baseman, hit a homer with two on to enable the Phillies to break a ten-game losing streak at the expense of Cincinnati.

WON ON HOMERS

Homers by Harper and Hafey gave the Cardinals all their runs in a 3-1 victory over the Boston Braves at St. Louis. Rain halted the game in the seventh.

Brooklyn made it three in a row by beating the Pirates at Pittsburgh 10-3

LARGE FIELD TO PLAY FOR UPPER ISLAND LAURELS

Norman Fell of Victoria to Defend Golf Championship at Qualicum

Bon Stein and Chuck Hunter May Play; Many Vancouver Golfers to Compete

Qualicum Beach, May 16—The Upper Island golf championship to be held at Qualicum Beach, on May 24, 25, 26 and 27, promised to be the most successful ever held. The course has never been in better shape, extra men having been employed during the last month in order to bring it to as perfect a state as possible. The greens are fast and true, and the fairways better than ever before. Many improvements have been made on the course since last year, and parts of the fairways and approaches are newly seeded. A large bank has been placed behind the fifth hole making it possible for a well placed second shot to stay on the green, where formerly one had to play short for fear of sliding over into the ravine.

PLENTY OF COMPETITION

The qualifying round of eighteen holes will be played on the morning of May 24. For those who do not qualify there will be four flights with prizes for the winners and runners-up. In addition to this long driving and approaching have also been arranged. Mixed foursomes or some other equally interesting competition will be played on the afternoon, May 26.

Vancouver will be well represented in the championship by John Hart, R. P. Baker, Eric Hamber, A. A. C. Taylor, Norman Whittall, all of Jericho; John Suttie of Marine Drive, and Brook Tomlinson and McPherson, of the Vancouver Golf and Country Club. Mr. Suttie reports further entries from the Marine Drive Club will be received during the next few days.

T. H. Havermeyer, one of the strongest of the mainland players and runner up of the championship, has signified his intention of comng over.

CHAMPION TO PLAY

Norman Fell of Victoria, present holder of the championship, has entered, as well as Jack Matson, city champion; Dr. Barrett, Arthur Cole, Charlie Wilson, Capt. Matterson and A. T. Goward.

The Uplands Club of Victoria expect to be represented by some of their younger members, who have made such fine showings lately. Colwood will be represented by Forbes Wilson, who has already played par golf over the course this year.

Some of the Vancouver players have endeavored to interest Bon Stein and Chuck Hunter in the tournament, and it is hoped that they will be able to get up for the tournament.

Victoria and Vancouver will be well represented in the ladies' event. Mrs. George Martin, Mrs. Hunting, Miss Janet Drysdale, Mrs. Havemeyer, Miss Fordham Johnson, will be the mainstay of Vancouver.

Victoria is sending Mrs. Charlie Wilson, Mrs. A. T. Goward, Mrs. L. C. Boyd and Mrs. Forbes Wilson. Miss Carey and Mrs. Saunders.

Powell River is sending Mrs. Pocock and Duncan, Miss Hogan.

Qualicum Beach itself has a very formidable competitor for the ladies' championship in Mrs. Kennedy.

As the tournament is limited to eighty-five entries, those who have not entered yet are advised to do so at once.

Rancocas Stable Cops Handicap

New York, May 16.—The Rancocas Stable's Mowlee, three-year-old brown son of Luculite and Epinglette, won the Southampton Handicap, mile and a sixteenth, feature of the Jamaica card, yesterday. Mowlee won by a length from the fast closing Sun Fire, owned by R. T. Wilson. The Fair Stable's Oh Say was third. The winner covered the distance in 1.45 2-5 and earned $4,850 for his owner.

The $1,600 Castlewood purse, six furlongs for three-year-olds and up, attraction at Churchill Downs, went to Dinner Dance with Brilliant second and Retort third. Dinner Dance broke the barrier fast, swept into a lead and held the advantage throughout to win by two lengths. Retort was three lengths back of Brilliant. The time was 1.13 3-5.

McLarnin Likely to Enter Ring On Even Terms With Mandell

Vancouver Boy Finds Plenty of Backing and the Odds Shorten Up in His Favor; One Critic Says Only Miracle Can Stop McLarnin From Winning Lightweight Championship; Both Fighters Taking It Easy To-day

New York, May 16.—A rush of West Coast support sending the odds down six to five on the champion indicated to-day that Jimmy McLarnin, of Vancouver, B.C., would be close to an even choice when he seeks to wrest the lightweight crown from Sammy Mandell at the Polo Grounds to-morrow night.

While Mandell was confining his activities to road work and limbering up exercises at his training camp in Orangeburg, N.Y., the challenger put on the gloves and boxed four fast rounds with a sparring partner, at Pompton Lakes, N.J. Both planned to take it easy to-day and then to come to New York to-morrow in time for weighing-in here in the afternoon.

TREMENDOUS CROWD

Basing his estimate on the advance sale of tickets Tex Rickard said more than 60,000 persons would see the fight of fifteen rounds or less—the first lightweight championship fight New York has seen since 1923, when Benny Leonard successfully warded off the challenge of Lew Tendler, Philadelphia southpaw.

Eight radio stations will broadcast the bout, which is scheduled to start about 9.45 p.m. eastern daylight saving time. These stations will be WJZ, New York; WBZ, Springfield, Mass.; WBA, Boston; WHAM, Rochester, N.Y.; WJR, Detroit; KYW, Chicago; WKWK, St. Louis, and WREN, Lawrence, Kas.

Andy Lytle, sporting editor of The Vancouver Sun, who is in New York, thinks that McLarnin is a cinch bet for the fight against Mandell. He sends the following dispatch to his paper:

"St. Patrick may have chased the snakes out of Ireland all right but it was 'That Daymon Finn McCool, greatest of Orish foighters, that bate the divil himsilf when the ould bhoy wit' the horns challenged him to a duel wit' the gloves. I'm thinkin' to-day that Jimmy McLarnin is another Finn McCool. Shure an' he cud bate the divil too.'"

"Inordinately stout, red-faced, well-groomed from head to toe and leaning heavily on the father of all walking sticks, ornated with a silver and diamond-studded handle, the speaker was McLarnin's millionaire friend and admirer, 'Baron' Handley, said to have the finest cellar in all New York and to have wagered $100,000 on Jimmy's chances Thursday night against Sammy Mandell.

"Handley is a choice example of the idolatry in which Jimmy is held by the New York Irish.

"'Pray the blissid God he'll not lose,' pleaded an Irish chambermaid in this hotel when she heard we were from Jimmy's home town.

EVEN THE COPS PULL FOR JIM

"'Kin a wop from Illinois or any ither state bate a good Irishman?' cried a club-swinging cop at Broadway this afternoon. 'If ye say yis, I'll be of a moind to run yez in.'

"'Tell my Vancouver friends I'll be in there trying all the time,' shouted Jimmy after me as I turned to leave the camp.

"'Honestly, Mr. Lytle, I don't think I'm going to lose,' continued the youngster, his bright eyes taking a serious light. 'I've never trained for a fight like I have for this one. I've never felt so full of pep and go.'

"Your correspondent expressed regret that Foster and Jimmy had not seen fit to insist on Vancouver as Jimmy's home port. 'It just got beyond us, I guess,' said Jimmy, in effect. 'You see, I did most of my fighting in California, and as we came east and I continued winning the fights, the California legend spread far in advance of us.

WANTS WORLD'S TITLE

"'It's the world's title I'm after,' continued the youngster as he rose and fitted himself into golf stockings, plus fours of a decidedly peppy hue, open-necked shirt and nifty golf shoes. 'And I know I have plenty of friends in Vancouver pulling for me. My eyes have been on that lightweight title since I was an amateur.'

"Is Jimmy McLarnin a child of destiny? Is he to reach his goal on Thursday night? Your correspondent spent nearly two hours at Sammy Mandell's camp Monday. He watched him box two rounds each with a welter, a lightweight who draped him over the ropes with a straight right hand, and a flyweight from the Coast named Patsy Sullivan.

Mark these words well. Only a miracle can save Mandell's crown from the clutch of Jimmy McLarnin—only a miracle.

"Should McLarnin win the title he does not expect to see the folks in Vancouver again, he said, somewhat regretfully, for a long time.

LOTS OF MONEY IF HE WINS

"'I'll be stickin' around here for some time, I'm afraid if am fortunate enough to beat Mandell. Sure I'd like to go home right away but that's impossible. Foster tells me there are some big contracts ready for me.'

"The laughing, smiling Jimmy McLarnin is being slowly submerged in the business man of affairs. You can sense it in his words, his budding showmanship, even in his smile as he greets his admirers. The fixed smile of the somewhat embarrassed but yet delighted hero has submerged, unless he meets you alone, the grin of his boyhood days. He realized that, willy-nilly, he has become an international character. It hasn't spoiled him, but, to use a ring expression, it has him almost stopped at times.

"Betting odds on the fight are just what you make them.

"Ike Dorgan, Rickard's confidential agent, said yesterday from behind his almost walled-in office desk at Madison Garden that McLarnin would be the betting favorite.

"'They all want McLarnin,' said George Bunkerwood of The Telegram.

BROKE HIS JAW?

"Charlie Foster walked into Dorgan's office for his mail as I entered it. Two or three news writers stood by. 'Charlie,' said Dorgan, 'What's this about Jimmy breaking Ritchie Randolph's jaw in a workout?' Foster grinned a denial. 'Don't heed, Dad,' exclaimed one of the scribes. 'We've got the low-down. Come clean with us.'

"Again Foster denied it. 'Well,' said Dorgan, dismissing the subject, 'Randolph left the camp after one workout, didn't he?'

"The evening papers carried a story of McLarnin breaking jaws with a right-hand punch. Actually, it didn't happen at all. Randolph is Jimmy's only sparring partner and will be. But there is the tip-off on what Tex Rickard wants and that is a McLarnin victory. Foster won't talk, of course, but it's a dead immortal cinch that Rickard has them tied up.

New York is sold on McLarnin. The "ayes," so to speak, in this case the Irish—have it. They're laying 4 to 1 on the knockout around the roaring forties. One man has wagered $2,500 to $10,000 McLarnin to win by a knockout. I saw that bet placed.

THOMSON BASKET RETURNS TO FIFTH

Handsome Rifle Shooting Trophy Again Up For Competition

A handsome fretted silver basket, of imposing proportions, will be among the trophies to be competed for at the rifle butts during the Summer by members of the Fifth Regiment, Canadian Garrison Artillery.

The trophy was donated to the Fifth Regiment in 1913 by James Thomson of the Hudson's Bay Company, and was won outright by the late Lieut. S. H. deCarteret. It has just been returned to the regiment.

Competition for the trophy is expected to add to the keen interest in regimental rifle contests. Beyond deciding that the Thomson basket shall hereafter become a perpetual challenge trophy, the Regimental Rifle Association has not taken any action to define the use of the award.

SUGGESTED USE

The keen interest of old-timers in restoration to competition of the basket has resulted in suggestions that it be thrown open to general competition, while advocates of the policy of developing young shots among newcomers to the regiment are favoring limitation of competition to the junior shots.

LOCAL BOXERS GET MANAGERS

Boys in Victoria Boxing Club to Be Placed Under Separate Control

In order to advance local boxers who belong to the Victoria Boxing Club, Billy Davies, who has been acting as their manager, has turned over his charges to a group of local business men who are noted for their interest in the pugilistic game and who will in future act as managers for the boxers.

The boxers are Dave Lewis, Tim Keist, Albie Davies, Ted Beales, J. A. McAllister and Jumbo Davies, as well as several novices.

The object of the new management is to do everything possible to develop the Victoria boxers into top notchers. Negotiations are under way to engage the services of a first-class boxing instructor, who will work out with the boys every evening and help them to correct the weaknesses of their style.

RING CHAMPS APPEAR SAFE FOR ONE YEAR

McLarnin May Find Mandell Hard Man to Beat in Lightweight Division

Tunney, Loughran, Dundee, Taylor and Morgan Appear Best of Classes

By HENRY L. FARRELL

Out of the seven or more world's championship fights that Tex Rickard is arranging for the Summer amusement of the customers there should come one or two new champions. That is, if there is anything in what the boys call the law of averages or tribal agreements limiting the tenure in a pugilistic office.

Looking back over the files, it can be seen that Rickard is almost bound by word to produce two or three new champions out of his extravagant programme, for, in one of those moments when he becomes author, he named some of the boys who are now booked to work for him as being overdue for a successor.

Last Winter when he turned to his typewriter and pounded out his all-American team, Rickard hedged. He said Samuel Lazzaro of Baltimore and Samuel Mandello of Rockford were found on his team, but they wouldn't be there very long. It was a rather broad inference that Lazzaro and Mandello were booked expertly for a socking out from under the champion's crown.

CHANGA DA NAME

Lazzaro, better known as Joe Dundee, the welterweight champion, and Mandello, who dropped the "o" in his name long before he became lightweight champion, are among the seven champions who will toil soon in defence of their titles. It is to be wondered if their employer still has such low regard of their chances to escape annihilation.

It is quite likely that Rickard has changed his mind by this time and that those who agreed with his expert appraisal of the fighers last Winter have changed their minds, too.

Mandell probably will be the only one of the seven champions who will not enter the ring a nice favorite to win. His match against Jimmy McLarnin is the only one of the seven that looks like real competition, and McLarnin is one of those products of sentimental New York frenzies, like Jack Delaney was.

Because of this fancy that New York has taken to McLarnin and because the young Irishman is a hitter of known power, the lightweigh championship fight on May 17 probably will be the artistic and financial success of the season. And this is said with all due respect to dear Gene Tunney.

ALWAYS BACK CHAMPION

Playing the champion, in cases where the champion is any good at all, is held to be the safest risk in pugilistic betting operations. We would bet on the champion in every fight this Summer if we were to bet.

That goes for Mandell, too, as we believe that the handsome little lightweight champion is one of the most under-estimated and most under-rated fighters of the day. McLarnin is a nice little fellow and all that, but Mandell ought to be too smart and too fast for him. Some say that Mandell will have to run to win, but so does Gene.

Dundee, to take up his case, may not have the respect of the public, but the fighters in his class apparently think a lot of him, because Rickard, having a task to get an opponent for him, may have to select Sammy Baker. Ace Hudkins annoyed the life out of Dundee while the champion was in bad with the boxing commissions of New York and California, but, as soon as the wraps were taken off him, Hudkins said he had a sore hand. Later he signed up to fight Mickey Walker in Chicago.

TUNNEY TOO FAST

If, for courtesy alone, some mention should be made of the heavyweight championship, it is hereby mentioned. Gene ought to win. He's too great a runner for any of the big boys and when he picked Tom Heeney as his opponent he certainly did not choose a man fast enough on his dogs to catch up with him.

Tommy Loughran will have to defend his light-heavyweight championship against Leo Lomski or Jack Slattery, and it is just too bad. Loughran scared Jack Delaney clear out of the division. He not only can beat any man in the class, but he could give dear Gene all Gene would want.

Bud Taylor, in defending the bantamweight championship against Kid Francis or Johnny Boulevardo, is a cinch if he hasn't gone dead, and we believe that Frankie Genaro is too old and shopworn to take the flyweight championship from Izzy Schwartz.

Tod Morgan might be plastered if he were defending the junior lightweight championship against anyone other than Eddie "Cannonball" Martin. We can't figure how long ago it was that Martin was a poor champion of a very poor bantamweight class, and his kind don't improve with age. Morgan is ready for a killing, but Martin doesn't look like the killer.

That bunch of seven arranged by Rickard doesn't look like the anticipated tough Summer for champions.

Bert Barry Not To Row Goodsell At Salt Lake

London, May 16.—Bert Barry, the young English holder of the world's professional sculling championship, to-day declined an offer from Major James Godsell, the Australian, of $2,500 and expenses for a title race at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Barry won the world title from Goodsell last December in a race at Vancouver, B.C. Subsequently Barry said in New York he would give Goodsell preference over other challengers for a return match.

REIGH COUNT IS FAVORITE

Winner of Mammoth Cave Purse Picked By Wise Ones to Win Derby

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—With the railbirds and the wise ones still shaking their heads over the brilliant run of Reigh Count in the Mammoth Cave purse on Monday, his first time out this season, rain clouds hoveing over the Downs track yesterday muddled up the derby atmosphere and speculation was rife, with widely divergent predictions.

The crack red colt of the Hertz string, however, was well entrenched as the favorite with indications that he may not pay more than ten cents to the dollar if he wins.

"Wait until you see him run," that was the comment last week of B. S. Mitchell, who has directed the training of the fast son of Sunreigh. On Monday he ran, covering the mile and a sixteenth in 1.45 2-5 to beat a field of five other derby hopefuls, and then finished out the mile and a quarter, derby distance in 2.05 2-5. Whiskery won the derby last year in 2.06.

NO ALIBIS

Yesterday the colt, out for a limbering up gallop, seemed none the worse for his run of Monday.

"I will have no excuse to offer if Reigh Count is beaten, rain or shine," Mitchell said.

Very few of the eligibles got in workouts before a light rain began falling yesterday morning.

The light sprinkle yesterday brought a chuckle from Johnny Scheer, trainer of E. B. McLean's Toro.

"If anything beats Toro over a muddy track, he is going to know that he has been to the races right and proper after the derby?" the wily conditioner remarked.

Reigh Count, Misstep, Martie Flynn, Bar None, Dogson, Lucky Hit and Lawley are the probable Western starters, with Cartago and Rurik, the latter from the stable of Newgrass and Lowenstein, also are considered possible contenders.

Death Was Punishment for Theft of Pekin Spaniels

A breed which will have no reason to be dissatisfied with its ambassadors on the champions' bench at the Victoria Kennel Club show this week is the Pekeneese whose reputation will be in the keeping of such good specimens as Ch. Shantung of Wangsa, Ch. Kon Li of Alderbourne, Ch. Ruby of Shantung and Ch. Sin Smudgee, all from Mrs. Castle's Shantung Kennels.

Of the early history of this breed little is known beyond the fact that bronze images of these dogs known to be more than 2,000 years old were found at the looting of the Palace of Pekin in 1860, that the palace strain of these Pekin spaniels was regarded as sacred, theft of them being punishable by death. The only known dogs of this sacred palace strain to have been imported to England were six, five of which were found by some British officers in the deserted gardens of the palace, probably forgotten when the court fled. These were brought home, one was presented to Queen Victoria and two of the others to the Duchess of Richmond, which latter pair were the founders of the Goodwood strain to which so many of the present-day winners trace their pedigrees. The sixth dog was smuggled—so the story goes—out of the country in a box of hay, which was hidden in a crate containing deer.

This romantic six were the chief founders of the Pekenese of to-day, of which Mrs. Castle has such a good kennel. Of the dogs benched Ch. Shantung of Wangsa, bought by Mrs. Castle in Quebec, after attaining to championship honors, was put to the stud, where in addition to giving his name to the kennel, sired Ch. Ruby of Shantung, also a good winner. Ch. Kon Li of Alerbourne, an imported dog, was also bought by Mrs. Castle and he with Ch. Wen Sin Smudgee completes her distinguished quartette who will grace the champions' bench.

Bud Davies and Tommy Fielding Head Boxing Card on Saturday

Plenty of fast milling is promised at the Tillicum Club on Saturday night when Joe Bayley, former lightweight champion of Canada, will stage his second card as a promoter. Joe will feature his protege, Tommy Fielding who made a mess of Dave Lewis in their encounter at Duncan last Saturday.

Fielding is to meet Bud Davies, a willing mixer from Jack Allen's stable in Vancouver. Davies likes lots of action and Fielding is promised a good evening's work. Fielding did a lot of plugging last night and had a hard, fast workout.

Davies and Fielding are to go ten rounds or less.

World's Largest Key Coming to Victoria

Tacoma Convention Presents It to Stephen Jones, Who Has to Ship It Home

After being presented with a ten-foot-long key to Tacoma, Stephen Jones, dean of British Columbia hotel men, and representative of the hotel industry of this Province at the convention of the Washington and Oregon State hotel associations, is back from Tacoma.

"I couldn't find any way of packing the key and bringing it back with me," Mr. Jones said. "It was so large that I almost had to get a freight car to have it shipped in. However, one of the express companies took charge of it and it will arrive in Victoria within a few days."

The key presented to Mr. Jones is one of the two largest keys in the world. The other was presented to Phil Metchen, of Portland, Oregon, president of the Oregon State Hotel Association. The keys point out that Tacoma and the Sound are the centre of the big tree lumber industry of the world.

More parties are booked to come to the coast this Summer than ever before, figures placed before the convention, showed, Mr. Jones said.

"The members of the two hotel associations, however, are stressing the advisability of the Pacific Northwest, including British Columbia, as a place for tourists to visit during the Spring, as there is no other part of the country that is so attractive as this part of the coast is during the Spring, with all its freshness in the evergreen woods and the bloom on the dogwood trees." Mr. Jones went on.

BOY SHOT AND KILLED

Edmonton, May 16.—Seven-year-old William Dromaskey was shot through the heart and instantly killed last night when a .22 rifle in the hands of his playmate, Mike Gouek, age eleven, discharged. The accident occurred when the younger boy ran around the corner of a shed and against the muzzle of the rifle. The force of the collision pushed the rifle back against a grindstone, where the nail, used as a trigger, was caught and discharged the bullet.

FREE TRAVEL FOR CHILDREN

British Newspapers in Association With Transportation Lines Plan Cruises

First Party of Children From Great Britain to Be on Coast August 22

The first of a series of visits to be paid to British Dominions by school children from the United Kingdom, under the $100,000 Empire Free Travel and Scholarship Fund, will arrive on the Pacific Coast on August 22, from Great Britain.

The tour is arranged by British newspapers, in association with the Cunard Line and the Canadian National Railways. Present plans call for a tour of the Dominion from east to west, with Vancouver as the turning point for the return journey.

City officials, however, are seeking an extension of the tour to bring the visiting party on to Vancouver Island. Hon. F. A. Pauline, B.C. Agent General in London, and Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R. lines, will be asked by the city to include Island points on the itinerary of the party, Acting Mayor R. A. C. Dewar said today.

The Empire Free Travel and Scholarship Fund is a plan to take children at their most impressionable age on conducted tours of the British Dominions. Canada has been singled out for the visit of the first party to leave England under the arrangement, and several weeks will be spent in this Dominion during August next.

TORONTO GRADS PLAN BIG DINNER

Graduates of the University of Toronto are to hold a big Varsity dinner at the Empress Hotel on June 30, it was announced to-day, following a meeting of the local alumni executive under Dr. John Campbell.

The dinner is being arranged in connection with the visit to the Coast of Dr. Cronn, secretary of the Toronto Alumni Association. The dinner will be followed by an address from Dr. Cronn, illustrated by movies of the university's activities.

The executive arranging for the affair include Robert Baird, Dr. W. J. Sipprell, Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick, Miss Maxwell, W. A. Patterson, Dr. J. S. Plaskett and E. C. Senkler.

TOC H PADRE TO VISIT CITY

Will Meet Victoria Group at Meeting Saturday

Padre Gilbert Williams, who has been touring Canada, following up the work of Padre Harry Ellison, who started the Victoria Group of Toc H last November, will arrive in Victoria on Saturday morning, accompanied by Mrs. Williams. They will be the guests of the Victoria executive at lunch. Padre Bill, as he is known in the family of Toc H, will meet the Victoria group at a special meeting at Cranleigh House School at 8 o'clock that evening. On Sunday morning he will occupy the pulpit of St. John's Church, Quadra Street. The same afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Williams will drive over the Malahat to Duncan, where the padre will meet a prospective Toc H group that evening.

Padre Williams comes highly recommended by Padre Ellison and other Toc H authorities, and "Toc H Victoria" will be out full strength to the Saturday night meeting and the Sunday morning service.

Mrs. Williams, an enthusiastic "Toc Emma," will likely meet with Victoria women who are interested in that branch of Toc H activity, although the local group is not yet planning to sponsor a branch of the League of Women Helpers.

Further information may be had by calling the secretary at 5838L.

White Teeth Deceive 4 out of 5 BECAUSE . .

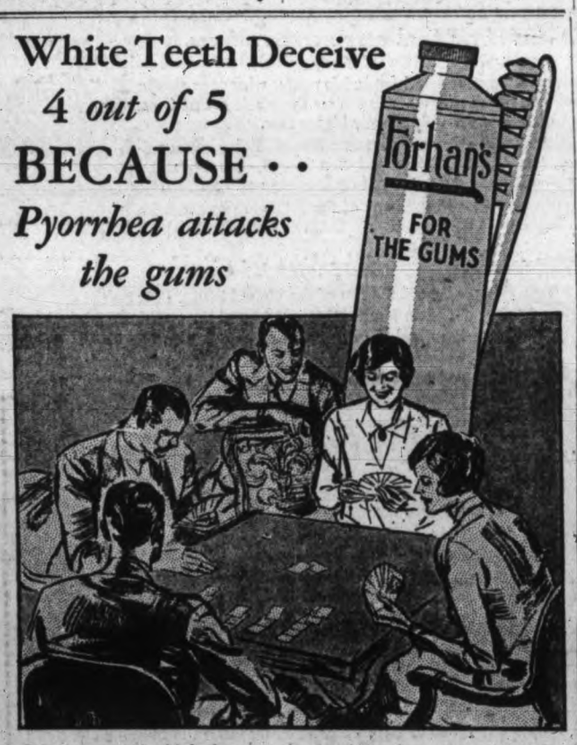
Pyorrhea attacks the gums



SO many people think they are secure when teeth are gleaming white. But too often they are fooled.

Lurking behind clean teeth is the marauder that takes high toll in health from 4 persons out of 5 after forty, and thousands younger—dread Pyorrhea. It ignores the teeth and attacks the gums.

Take this precaution: See your dentist every six months. And start using the dentifrice that cleans teeth without the use of harsh abrasives and at the same time helps keep the gums firm and healthy—the best safeguard against Pyorrhea.

Morning and night, every day, use Forhan's for the Gums. Massage your gums daily with this dentifrice, following directions in booklet that comes with tube. Then you provide the protection teeth and gums must have. At all druggists—in tubes, 35c and 60c.

MINES REPORT READY SHORTLY

Will Show Much Progress in British Columbia Mining

The annual report for 1927 of the British Columbia Department of Mines will be issued within the next two weeks, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister if Mines, announced this morning.

The report will show that mining has made consistent progress in almost every line during the past year, with many new and promising fields coming under development.

Because of great interest in British Columbia mining conditions being exhibited by financial interests in Europe, Eastern United States and Canada, the edition is being increased by thirty per cent, and 6,000 copies of the report will be distributed.

Requests for copies of the report have been accumulating rapidly in recent weeks, these coming from England, Paris, New York, Montreal, and many other financial centres.

Issuance of the report has been delayed a few weeks by the removal of the Provincial Printing Department to the new building on Superior Street.

Tire Mileage

- - and Truck - and - Load Weight

THERE'S a correct size of tire for every load — and a correct inflation pressure, too. Overloading or under-inflating both give rise to constant and excessive flexing of the side walls. This causes cracks and breaks in the cord fabric, which, if unchecked, must invariably result in blow-outs, and greatly reduced mileage.

It's not enough to weigh the truck. You must weigh the truck plus maximum load. Then weigh the rear wheels loaded. Otherwise you may be carrying 75 per cent or more of the load on the rear tires.

Let an experienced tire man weigh your trucks and start you right. It will pay you.

"Usconite," developed by Dominion Rubber engineers prevents tread and carcass separation

The constant flexing of a heavy service tire under load generates heat which causes ordinary rubber to lose its vitality and tenacity. Tread and carcass separation result.

"Usconite" — the new rubber compound used exclusively in Dominion Heavy Service Tires — prevents this trouble. Even under high temperatures it remains tenacious and lively. Thus the tread holds fast to the carcass.

Get this greater mileage in Dominion Heavy Service and Motor Coach Tires. Only Dominion use "Usconite."

Mileage is built into every part or Dominion Heavy Service and Motor Coach Tires. Ribbed wall construction is designed to minimize the wear and side-scuffing of the tire-walls where they come in contact with curb or rut. "Usconite" prevents tread and carcass separation. Read about it in the paragraph at the left.

French Line Freighter Aground In Straits

Ss. Nevada Third Marine Casualty Due to High Wind

Vessel Grounds in Sand Near Port Townsend, En Route From Vancouver to Tacoma; Coastguard Cutter and Tug Standing By to Pull Her Off; Tug Aground Near Port Angeles and Powerboat at Jordan River Other Shipping Casualties

Bound from Vancouver to Tacoma, the French line freighter Nevada went aground in a heavy wind at Point Wilson, just outside of Port Townsend on the Washington coast at 3 a.m. to-day, according to wireless messages received in Victoria.

She was the third shipping casualty in the Straits resulting from the furious gale which has been blowing during the last forty-eight hours. The tug Barney Jr. is ashore near Port Angeles and the powerboat Gardner M. near Jordan River.

The Nevada is reported to be in no danger. Wireless messages said the vessel was not leaking, and was resting on a sandy bottom.

When word was received here early this morning, preparations were made to send out a salvage ship from Victoria, but later information stating the coastguard cutter Snohomish and a tug from Seattle had been sent to the rescue, made this move unnecessary.

The Snohomish went to the assistance of the Nevada from Port Townsend, and was standing by until high tide at 2 p.m. to-day when an effort was to be made to refloat the ship. A tug was sent from Seattle by the General Steamship Company, Pacific Coast agents for the Compagny Generale Transatlantique, commonly known as the French Line, to help pull the vessel off the beach.

The Nevada ran aground while under command of the French captain. A United States pilot was to have been picked up at Port Townsend.

The Nevada is of steel construction and is 3,499 tons register.

Blue Funnel Liner Arrives With Big Passenger List

With her passenger accommodation taxed to capacity and her hold filled with a good cargo, the Blue Funnel liner Protesilaus docked at the Rithet Piers this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from Hongkong and other Oriental ports. She arrived at the William Head Quarantine Station at noon. The Protesilaus discharged fifty tons of general cargo at this port before she sailed for Vancouver and other Mainland ports. Two hundred and forty-seven passengers made up the list on the liner, six of which were for the United States and the remainder for Canada. Of the Canadian passengers, seventy-one disembarked at this port. Besides the freight consignment the vessel carried on hundred and fifty-six bags of mail for Canada and the United States.

C.P.R. FREIGHTER MAKES FAST RUN

Montreal, May 16.—Leaving Montreal on the morning of May 4, the Canadian Pacific cargo steamer Beaverburn accomplished what has heretofore been expected only of passenger vessels and established what is considered by local steamship men to be a record freight run, when she arrived at Gravesend at 11 a.m. Sunday, May 13, docking at the Surrey commercial docks shortly after. This trip was the first out of Montreal of one of the new Beaver vessels. Specially designed for fast refrigerator and general freight service, it is anticipated by local officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway that from twelve to fifteen hours will be clipped from her record by the Beaverburn and other vessels of her class when they are routed via the Straits of Belle Isle.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, May 16.—As a result of the American-Hawaiian freighter Mexican having struck an unknown obstruction on her voyage to this coast, a revision of schedule for the next several weeks was made yesterday by company officials. The Mexican will go on drydock for repairs while here. To fill the gap caused by her absence, the steamer American will sail two days ahead of schedule from the Columbia River, will call at Puget Sound, and will then omit San Francisco on her trip to the East Coast. The Minnesotan will sail from here June 2 instead of June 1, and the Mexican, sailing from here on June 9 will omit Puget Sound as a port of call. The San Pedro schedule will be unchanged.

Effective next month, the Java Pacific Line will inaugurate a monthly service from this coast to Java, Cornelius Winkler, general agent for the line, announced here yesterday. The Dell will inaugurate the new service sailing from here on June 25 at monthly intervals. The Dell will be followed by the Bintang, Tapanoeli, Bengkalis, Sinantar and Modjokerto.

The Union Line steamer Tahiti is due to sail from here late to-day for the South Sea Islands with a full list of passengers.

HOWARD J. KELLEY DIES IN SOUTH

Former G.T.P. Railway Official Passes Suddenly in San Diego

THE LATE H. J. KELLEY

Montreal, May 16.—Howard J. Kelley, former president of the Grand Trunk Railway system and ten years ago one of the outstanding railway men in Canada, died suddenly to-day of cerebral hemorrhage at San Diego, California, according to word received here by friends. He was seventy years of age.

Since 1922 the late Mr. Kelly had lived in the United States, the land of his birth. He left Canada following the creation of the Canadian National Railways in 1919. He was born in Philadelphia in 1858, and entered railway service in the United States in 1881. In 1907 he was brought north to Canada as chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway system, and in 1917 succeeded E. J. Chamberlain as president.

Under Mr. Kelly some 10,000 miles of road, largely in practically unexplored territory, were added to the Grand Trunk mileage.

San Diego, Cal., May 16.—Burial of Howard J. Kelley, former president of the Grand Trunk Railway in Canada, who died suddenly here yesterday, will take place at Big Springs, Texas.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

MINERS' LICENSES SOON TO LAPSE

Free Miners Must Renew Certificates Before May 31

Free miners certificates expire on May 31 and must be renewed before that date to protect mining claims. Officials of the Department of Mines this morning called attention to the necessity of renewal of miners' licenses at this time, when interest in mining and prospects has given added value to mining claims.

There are forty-two points in the Province where the renewal of free miners' certificates may be performed. It is pointed out that while delay in renewal of free miners' licenses may not cancel restoration of the license, claims re-located by other license holders during the lapse cannot be restored to the delinquent license holder.

Corns

Stop Hurting Instantly

then Lift Right Off!

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with your fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit! Works like a charm, every time.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store, and is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and callouses. Try it!

Gas In Stomach Hurts the Heart

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion, Says Medical Writer

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal!

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily, or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good druggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form, at very small cost—but be sure you get BISURATED Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 15 years. (Advt.)

WOMEN!

If you have tried everything else and failed to obtain relief ask your druggist for DR. MARTEL'S FEMALE PILLS, "in sealed TIN box with our signature, AND ACCEPT NOTHING ELSE." Not something new, but an old reliable remedy, RECOMMENDED AND SOLD for half century, no dangerous drugs. If you are NERVOUS, HAVE BACKACHE, DELAYED PAINFUL MENSTRUATION, or other symptoms, do not delay. The price is $2.00 Box (or $3.50 for "SPECIAL PILLS" for serious cases). Mailed on receipt price.

GOES TO HEAR GREAT ORGANIST

organist at the Dominion Theatre, who went to Vancouver last night to attend the special lecture given there this morning by Oliver Wallace, famed organist at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, Seattle, and noted for his playing over KOMO and other radio stations. Mr. Wallace is generally conceded to be the greatest theatre organist to-day. He is spending two weeks as guest organist at the Capitol Theatre, Vancouver, performing on the great new Wurlitzer organ there. Many Victorians heard him over the radio from Vancouver Sunday night, playing the "Lost Chord." Organists from all the Famous Players' theatres in the southern part of British Columbia are gathered in Vancouver to-day, where Mr. Wallace is giving them a special lecture and demonstration in theatre organ playing.

Keating

Keating, May 16.—The Ladies' Aid of the South Saanich United Church held the May meeting in the church parlor with a good attendance of members, the president, Miss Lillian Dearing, being in the chair. The greater part of the meeting was taken up in discussing further improvements to the interior of the church. Afternoon tea was served at the close of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Highstead of Somenos were visitors at the home of Mrs. Highstead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rhode, Central Saanich Road, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Michell have returned home from Redwood City, California, and will reside in their new home on Island View Beach Road.

Mrs. R. E. Nimmo, Mrs. C. L. Styan and Mrs. H. Lawrie of the South Saanich Women's Institute are attending the Women's Institute conference at Duncan this week.

Misses Nellie and Alice Styan, Central Saanich Road, were hostesses to the members of the Junior Institute for the May meeting on Saturday afternoon. There was a good attendance of members, and the chair was taken by the president, Miss Nellie Styan. The secretary's report was given by Miss Mabel Miller. A number of names were suggested for membership, and after a general discussion the age limit was set for fifteen years and over, and any new members will be welcomed by the club. The annual picnic and entertainment for the mothers and senior institute was discussed, and will be held later in the season. Commencing with the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Miss Ona Young, Keating Cross Road, the meeting will be held on the evening of the second Thursday in each month for the Summer season. Afternoon tea was served by the hostesses. An interesting event then took place when the president presented Miss Edith Bickford with a French ivory mirror in remembrance of her twenty-first birthday, with the best wishes of the members. Miss Bickford thanked the members suitably and a social time was enjoyed.

The Farmer's and Women's Institute of South Saanich will hold the May meeting in the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening, May 17, at 8 o'clock.

CUSTOMS BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Method of Staff Appointments Debated By Members at Ottawa

Ottawa, May 16.—The Government bill to empower the Minister of National Revenue to nominate after examination, appraisers, investigators and members of the customs preventive service for appointment by the Civil Service Commission, is now before the House for the third reading, the committee stage having been completed yesterday.

RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED

Both Premier King and Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, said the bill followed the recommendations of the Royal Commission which investigated the customs administration.

Mr. Euler said he was as much in favor of the Civil Service Commission as he had ever been, but he did not propose to drive a theory to an absurd conclusion if it were shown to him to be advantageous.

Replying to a question by W. G. McQuarrie, Conservative, New Westminster, the Minister declared there was no intention to discriminate against returned soldiers.

Brig.-General J. A. Clark, Conservative, Vancouver-Burrard, asked why the Minister "refused to insert a provision in the act with respect to returned soldiers."

Mr. Euler replied that he did not want to burden the bill with too many provisions. He did not think any such law would have any practical value, because if a minister desired to discriminate against returned men he could do so with the provision in the bill as well as if the provisions were omitted.

BEST MEN WANTED

W. G. McQuarrie asked if the Minister would embody in the bill the provision of the Civil Service Act which called for the selection of people more or less near at hand to fill positions.

To this Mr. Euler replied that he thought other things being equal, persons living in the vicinity of a place where a vacancy occurred would naturally be appointed. On the other hand, his whole purpose was to get the best man for every job.

BENNETT TO SPEAK

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, intimated he would have a couple of amendments to submit on third reading. He took the view that the board of appraisers should set the examinations, the Civil Service Commission conduct the examinations, and make the appointments, and preference be given to returned soldiers, as was the case under the Civil Service Act.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Vancouver Centre, and Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative, Fort William, spoke briefly. Dr. Manion thought the method of appointments by the Civil Service Commission was quite satisfactory.

TOLMIE SPEAKS

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative, Victoria, said he failed to see why the Civil Service Commission could not make the selection of the appointees for office indicated in the bill as well as the Minister, and perhaps more independently.

Britain Gives Pensions To 14,563 Blind Folk

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

In connection with its insurance scheme, the British government passed in 1920 a blind persons act under which 14,563 blind persons between the ages of fifty and seventy now receive government pensions.

In addition, attempts are being made to aid younger people through establishment of centres in which the blind may be given opportunity to work and to learn. During 1926 and 1927 more than a half million dollars was spent on workshops, home workers, home teaching and books.

PREVENTIVE EFFORT

Apparently there is a slight decrease in the number of blind persons under the age of twenty-one, which may represent some of the success of the attempts now in operation in all the civilized world for the prevention of blindness among infants.

Among favorite occupations for blind workers is piano tuning. Because of the ease of the occupation, however, and the relatively high financial return, numerous incompetent people were attracted to the profession so that it was necessary to establish limitations of those undertaking this work.

BLIND CHILDREN

It is estimated that about 0.5 of children under the age of 5 are blind. There are furthermore 7,000 partially blind children in England and Wales, of whom only 1,500 are receiving institutional attention to permit them to secure proper occupations.

Undoubtedly, the figures of the United States will closely approximate those of Great Britain. The greatest help that might be given to either the blind or the partly blind is an education which would enable them to earn funds efficiently for their own support.

BEAUTY QUEENS WILL RECEIVE PRIZES TO-NIGHT

Presentations Will Be Made By George I. Warren at the Dominion Theatre

"Miss Victoria" for 1928 and the other bathing beauties will be presented with their prizes on the stage of the Dominion Theatre to-night.

The presentations will be made by George I. Warren, secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The beauties will pose in their bathing suits on the stage of the Dominion at the two shows to-night. The prizes will be displayed to the audience.

This will be "Miss Victoria's" last public appearance here before she starts East to compete for the title of "Miss Canada," who will represent this country at the international beauty finals at Galveston. For to-night's farewell event, "Miss Victoria" will pose specially in the new silk bathing suit which J. M. Robertson, manager of the Dominion, has imported to present to her. She will also put on the prize French gown from the South African Plume Shop. Harry Malakoff, manager of the South Africa., will attend the presentation ceremonies to-night.

"Miss Canada, 1927" who at this time last year was being crowned "Miss Victoria" and starting out on her beauty career which ended in her being chosen as the representative of this country at Galveston, was to have attended to-night's presentations to extend her greeting to her successor as the new beauty queen. "Miss Canada," however, is in Seattle for a few weeks and was unable to come over for the ceremonies here. R. C. Ross, as her manager, to-day issued a statement in which regret was expressed on her inability to be present.

"Last year's Canadian beauty champion would naturally like nothing better than to be present to-night to wish her successor in the role of 'Miss Victoria' every success," Mr. Ross said. "I was in touch with her in Seattle over the telephone and she asked me to express her regrets over the fact that she cannot be present on this occasion. But she sends her congratulations to the beauty champion of 1928."

"Miss Nanaimo," the beauty champion of Up-island, has come down to appear with "Miss Victoria" at the presentations to-night. The two of them will leave at the end of the week for Edmonton, where their first showing in the Canadian beauty finals will take place.

Digain Williams of San Francisco, Welsh Author and Poet, Charmed With Victoria

Digain Williams of San Francisco, well-known scholar and writer, is now in the city to write the first of a series of articles on Victoria for The Brython, a Welsh literary paper published in Liverpool.

"What more beautiful place could one wish to write about," said Mr. Williams to-day.

Mr. Williams, who is a native of North Wales, may lecture in Victoria before leaving.

He received most of his education in the United States, at Cornell and Harvard Universities.

He is the author of "Essays in Welsh Literature" and "The Great Hymns of Wales" as well as a volume of poems.

His "Darwin," a poem on evolution from the standpoint of Christianity, has been well received both in the United States and in England.

Sir Arthur Keith called him "Darwin's poet," and Professor J. Arthur Thomson of Aberdeen penned a most appreciative review of the poem.

Mr. Williams is accompanied here by Mrs. Williams.

MAN CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

George Reid Reserves Defence For Higher Court

George Reid, charged with bigamy, elected trial by a higher court, when appearing before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning. D. S. Tait appeared for the accused and reserved defence.

Jessie Elizabeth Bair Reid was the first witness called to the stand by the prosecution. She testified that she married George Reid, the accused, at the John Knox Church, Aberdeen, Scotland, on July 13, 1904. She produced a marriage certificate.

Witness said she went to Toronto with her husband in 1913. Shortly after her arrival she obtained employment and from that day on she had not lived with her husband. Continuing she stated that George Reid left Toronto in 1918 in company with a Mrs. Drury with whom he had boarded in Toronto and proceeded West.

Mrs. Reid also produced a letter received by her on May 28, 1918, from George Reid, requesting that she send to him the certificate of their marriage. Since that time until now no divorce proceedings had been taken either by her or George Reid, witness said.

She told of coming to Victoria last Saturday from South Orange, New Jersey. Immediately upon arriving here she swore out an information charge with Chief of Police Fry, witness said. Witness stated that through the Newark police she had obtained information that George Reid had been married again in Victoria in January, 1925.

Witness said she was supporting her mother in Aberdeen and also a child that George Reid is the father of.

Mr. Harrison—Is that your child?

Witness—No. My sister's.

Robert John Percival Sherritt, 2106 Blanshard Street, testified that he had witnessed a marriage ceremony on January 3, 1925, at the residence of Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell, between his sister, Cora May Lewtas and George Reid.

PROVINCE AIDS ENTERTAINMENT OF U.S. SAILORS

Grant Made By Executive Council Toward Functions For Pennsylvania Crew

Following representations by W. T. Straith, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and vice-president of the Victoria Chamber, on behalf of the May 24 celebration committee, a grant of $350 has been made by the executive council of the Provincial Government towards the entertainment of the officers and crew of the U.S.S. Pennsylvania, which will be in Victoria for a four-day stay, commencing May 24.

The secretary of the celebration committee received advices to this effect this morning from Premier J. D. MacLean.

As a result of this grant, sailors from the Pennsylvania will be taken on a sightseeing drive around Victoria and the Saanich Peninsula, it was announced.

A committee under the chairmanship of Walter Miles was formed today to make arrangements.

Several organizations have cooperated with the Junior Chamber in providing entertainment for the visiting sailors.

The local naval barracks, under the direction of Commander P. W. Nelles, has arranged a smoker and concert for some of the complement while the Sixteenth Canadian Regiment will stage a smoker and boxing tournament at the Armories for the visitors. The Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., has also arranged a smoker at their clubrooms on Courtney Street.

In addition to this entertainment, the sailors will take part in a baseball game at the Royal Athletic Park and will have a prominent place in the decorated street parade on May 24.

An invitation dance for the citizens of Victoria will be given aboard the Pennsylvania while she is in port.

ELEVATOR BINS NOW AT PEAK

Twenty-two Bins Rising 92 Feet in Air Are Now Completed

In a progress statement to the city to-day, A. L. H. Somerville, representing C. D. Howe and Company, consultant engineers acting for the city at the Panama Pacific elevator contract, reports the completing of the concrete pouring in the elevator storage bins, which have now risen to a height of 92 feet.

Some 2,400 cubic yards of concrete went into this phase of the work, using 13,000 sacks of cement. Work at the Ogden Point site of the elevator is being pushed ahead rapidly, and an active start on the work house of the plant is to be made this week.

Rising to their full height of 92 feet, the twenty-two storage bins have changed the appearance of the Ogden Point pier site considerably, and give a fair indication of the size of the undertaking in which the city is interested.

LUTHERANS HEAR FINE REPORTS

Growth of Church Shown in Convention Reports

At the twenty-eighth convention of the Pacific Synod of the United Lutheran Church, reports presented to-day by the president indicated the splendid condition of the church. The treasurer's report showed that contributions for benevolences were 25 per cent higher this year than in previous years. They totaled $8,000. The convention was further encouraged by the statistician's report. This report showed a material increase in registration, since there are now 3,000 confirmed members in the church.

All officers were re-elected: President, Dr. P. W. H. Frederick of Seattle; secretary, Rev. W. I. Eck, the Dalles, Oregon; treasurer, Rev. L. B. Deck, Vancouver, Wash.

Important business transacted was the passing of a motion to the effect that the president of the synod should be authorized to appoint a committee of two, representing the Pacific Synod of the Lutheran Church to act with representatives of other churches in establishing a school of religious education at the University of Oregon. The move was sponsored by the Rev. F. S. Beistel, the Lutheran student pastor at the university.

A change in the date of the lecture for Friday evening has been made. The subject which was to have been dealt with on that night will be covered on Thursday night along with the Thursday night's lecture.

A damage claim for injuries suffered by a child while sliding down the chutes at North Ward Park was placed in the hands of the city to-day by the parents of the child. The victim of the mishap had an eight-inch splinter extracted after the incident. The chutes are of metal, the guard rails being of wooden construction. The claim was referred to the city solicitor for report.

GARDINER M. NOW OFF ROCKS

Two Seine Boats Pull Fish Tender to Safety

The Gardner M. powerboat which went ashore near Jordan River yesterday was pulled off the rocks by two seine boats at 11 o'clock this morning and is now floating.

Capt. H. Mowatt of North Vancouver, who was in charge of the boat, was taken off by the Canadian Government steamer Malaspina last night, following an unsuccessful attempt to pull the vessel off the rocks, according to word received here.

The Malaspina was proceeding to Victoria this morning with the rescued man aboard.

SOUGHT SHELTER

According to meagre telegraphic advices filtering through late yesterday, the Gardner M. with four tons of lubricating oil for a Barkley Sound logging company, ran into a small bay near th mouth of Jordan River, seeking shelter from a stiff wind and heavy seas. Her anchor dragged, however, and she piled on the rocks. The attention of a passing resident was attracted by the captain of the launch and word was then flashed to Victoria and to the Pachena wireless station, from whence the Malaspina was informed.

The Gardner M, a 38-foot fish tender boat of approximately eight tons registered tonnage, is owned by Ryotaro Kita of the Imperial Trading Company, Vancouver. She was built by Vancouver Harbor Board and is equipped with a thirty-six-horsepower Gardiner engine. She is a new boat, and left Vancouver Sunday morning for Barkley Sound on her first trip, up the West Coast.

TO WORK ON COAST.

T. Matsuyama of the Imperial Trading Company, expressed confidence in Vancouver to-day that the boat would soon be afloat again and able to resume her journey to Barkley Sound. After undergoing some repairs at Barkley Sound, she will be working throughout the Summer for Hecate Fish Products Limited.

NANAIMO DISTRICT DELEGATION SEEKS ROAD BETTERMENT

Surfacing the old Island Highway for eight miles south of Nanaimo, was sought this morning by a strong delegation which waited upon Hon. Dr. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, at the Parliament Buildings.

The deputation asked that the old highway, abandoned about three years ago when the more direct route between Ladysmith and Nanaimo was opened, be surfaced with tarvia. It was pointed out to Dr. Sutherland that the road serves a well-settled and rich farming territory and carries much traffic.

Hon. Dr. Sutherland promised that the work would be given consideration, and remarked that the Public Works Department has a difficult task in applying funds available. Deputy Minister P. Philip is not expected back from the Mainland until to-morrow.

The deputation consisted of Mayor Busby of Nanaimo, G. S. Pearson of the Nanaimo Board of Trade, Dr. W. G. Moore of the Automobile Club of B.C., and A. Galloway, R. Ferguson, C. Styger and A. Maguire of Cedar, centrally located on the old highway.

HOTEL OWNER SUES C.P.R. FOR $7,000

Fernie, B.C., May 16.—D. M. Wolansky brought suit against the Canadian Pacific Railway before Mr. Justice Murphy in assize court here yesterday, claiming $7,000 damages for destruction of a hotel at Natal owned by him. Court adjourned for the day before the defence was completed.

The Wolansky hotel was one of several buildings burned on August 5, 1927. The other buildings included a hay shed on the railway right of way and a garage.

Wolansky claimed a spark from a westbound C.P.R. passenger train ignited the hay shed and that the flames spread to his hotel.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, May 16.—Wheat: Market opened ¼ higher this morning after holding steady during the first period, finally yielding to liquidation sales the May and July futures broke fully 3 cents, while October did about 2. Generally speaking the market was dull and mostly following Chicago.

There was a little export in Manitobas worked over night, but the volume was disappointingly small. Local trade was largely of a spreading character, selling July against purchases of October. There was a little wheat taken by seaboard houses on the dips, but the volume was insignificant. Locals are selling the July on the basis that there is far more wheat in this country at present time that will be required by import countries during the next three months, and are buying the October on the assumption that this month will show strength should damage occure to the new crop. The local cash market continued quiet. There was a little demand early for Nos. 4, 5 and 6. Wheat and spreads on the No. 4 were ½ cent better, but the demand fell away and the spreads eased off.

Chicago, May 16.—Wheat: Quite general rains were no doubt something of a factor in the reduction of about two cents a bushel in wheat prices, but reduced volume of support also was a factor. The Argentine strike materially reduces clearances from that country and makes it more likely that American wheat will be needed in quantity. Conditions affecting the new crop have shown some improvement in Europe, but the most optimistic are only expecting an average crop, while most advices indicate a broad wheat crop somewhat below the average.

Corn: Weakness in other grains failed of material effect in corn, primary shipment continue well in excess of receipts and there is very little indication of any general selling of remaining reserves on the farm. It is very much doubted that there is sufficient corn in states east of the Missouri River to cover local requirements until new crop.

Oats: Liquidation of local holdings gave this market a weak ktone. Liverpool due 1 to 1⅛ lower in the morning.

WHITNEY LETTER

New York, May 16 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says today:

"I expect that after an hour or so of irregularity or perhaps irregular reaction to-day that we will have completed this particular phase of market correction and that before the end of the day the trend will be upward and rather clearly defined in that direction.

"After an hour or so to-day, the turn should be made back to the rails, the high-grade oils and the steel stocks, with advances coming into the members of each of these groups. The ability of the market to administer its own necessary technical correction practically without disturbance is the best indication that there is no general reaction in the making.

"In the rail group I do not believe that there is the assumption of a three-point risk in purchase of Can. Pacific, Reading, D. and H., B. and O. or N.Y.C. made on fractional reaction to-day. The same may be said for Pullman, Westinghouse and Westinghouse Airbrake, as well as the standard oils which are aided by another advance in gasoline prices.

"Hold all Allied Chemical, Overland should complete the advance previously predicted for it. In the oil group add Texas Co. to the standard oils for buying at this time. American Solvent and Chemical preferred should be held.

"Zinc stocks have followed the coppers and it will be an unusual advance if they did not participate in the present move so I expect higher prices for American Smelting and Refining.

"If you did not use the last point reaction to buy Armour use this point and half reaction to take a long position in it."

ENGLISH MILLIONS COMING TO EXPLOIT TURNER VALLEY OIL

Vancouver, B.C., May 16. — The amount of capital in Britain available for investment in Canada at the present time is staggering, said J. C. Dallas, prominent oil operator of Calgary, who arrived in Vancouver over Canadian Pacific lines Tuesday evening.

The Dominion as the ultimate goal of millions now awaiting investment abroad was visualized by Mr. Dallas, his statements being based on a recent visit there during which he interested Lord Askwith, one of the leading British financiers of the present day, in the Turner Valley oil field south of Calgary. Lord Askwith, now president of the Calmont Oil Company, in which considerable B.C. capital is interested, will pay a visit to the field early in the coming Summer.

Wall Street To-day

(By B.C. Bond Corporation's Leased Wire)

New York, May 16—The evening edition of The Wall Street Journal says:

"Great volume and some sensational openings in aeroplane and motor shares featured the first few minutes of trading but those developments told practically the whole story of the "up side" of the market. By the end of the first hour activity continued and irregularity increased.

Heavy selling began to make its appearance at the end of the first hour, gained in force as the session advanced, with the low prices of the day developing in the last hour. The close was weak. The market acted as if many traders had become acutely apprehensive over the demonstrations in the motors and in the aeroplane issues, that the position of the market had been seriously undermined.

In the background was the thought of the usual weekly meeting of the New York Federal Reserve governers to-morrow and the weekly reserve report on brokers' loans. Call money continued in supply at 5½ per cent but when the market turned weak the street received reports that the Federal Reserve authorities were becoming more positive in their intimations to banking circles that in some cases liabilities had become altogether too high and that a reduction would be in order.

It was impossible to say whether these reports had any foundation or to ascertain whether the action of the market itself had given rise to the rumor. The aeroplane stocks in fact dropped almost as sensationally as they had risen and it was pointed out that substantial weakness was apparent only in the issues which had had the wild advances.

Montreal Stocks

By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire

Montreal, May 16.—The general tone remains decidedly bullish on the Montreal stock exchange and, although volume of transactions is not as large as it was a week ago, still total transactions compare favorably with the few sessions.

The most important move which was recorded was the rise in Dominion Glass from 136 to 144, the high record price established in 1927 being duplicated; it closed at 143 for a net gain of 7 points. Alcohol firmed up one to 49, while National Breweries were off fractionally to 136½. Canadian Brewing touched a high of 37 and closed unchanged at 36⅝. Lyall is traded in ex-rights since yesterday afternoon. The old stock carries two rights to subscribe to the new no par value stock at $40, while 11½ was the closing quotation. The new stock opened at 60 and closed at 63½.

COPPER PRICE MOVES UP AS RESERVE STOCK DECLINES

New York, May 16.—An advance in the price of copper to its highest level in eighteen months and a depletion of stocks on hand during April has led to spirited buying of copper company securities.

The price of the metal was raised yesterday one-eighth to 14⅝ cents a pound.

The report of the American Bureau of Metal Statistics shows producers and refiners of North and South America had 72,893 tons on hand on May 1, a decline of 14,399 tons from April 1.

Anaconda, Copper, Calumet and Arizona and Kennecott Copper are named as in line for increased dividend distributions.

RUBBER TARIFF FIGURES ARGUED

Ottawa, May 16.—In support of their contention that the rubber manufacturers of Canada have not used the tariff protection they enjoy to enhance the prices of their goods, the Association of Canadian Rubber Firms submitted briefs to the Tariff Advisory Board here yesterday at the request of the board.

The manufacturers put in exhibits of various types of rubber footwear to prove that when quality was considered, rubber footwear was as cheap in Canada as in the United States.

There were about seven per cent higher prices on tires in Canada. The companies declined to disclose their costs, the representative said.

PERCENTAGES GIVEN

The Consumers' League is asking for a reduction in the tariff on rubber goods, claiming the protection, ranging from twenty to thirty per cent, is too high.

R. J. Deachman, counsel for the League, contended that thirty-three per cent of the costs of the rubber industry in this country went into raw material, a large portion of which was for raw rubber of which Canadian manufacturers bought on equal terms with the United States firms. Seventeen per cent went into wages, and he asserted these were agreed to be about the same in the two countries, as was also the overhead of twenty-three per cent. Accordingly there was only twenty-seven per cent of the costs left on which the United States might have some advantage, and the League took the position that a protection of from twenty to thirty per cent was too high under the circumstances.

Arthur Hanay, president of the Rubber Association, was examined as to the briefs he had submitted, and he contended that a reduction in the duties would enable the United States manufacturers to get by the Dumping Act and flood the Canadian market when under stress in their own country.

The briefs showed the rubber industry in Canada produced $80,000,000 worth of finished goods a year.

The firms bought raw materials of about $50,000,000 a year, of which $17,438,000 was bought in Canada.

Big Tonnage Indicated For Shattuck Denn

New York, May 16.—Park J. Channing, one of the best known mining engineers in the country, estimates there is at present indicated in the Denn ore body of the Shattuck Denn Mining Corporation, 500,000 tons of ore between the 1,900-foot level and a depth of 2,200 feet, and the ore will probably extend to a depth of at least 2,400 feet, giving an additional 330,000 tons, or a total of 830,000 tons, as he estimates the ore body is 250 feet long and sixty feet wide.

Creating Wealth

There can be no more appealing form of industry than the creation of new wealth from a country's mineral resources. And no other industry offers the same opportunities of quick profits to the investor.

British Columbia is well launched upon an era of mining development that promises to place the province in the very forefront of the world's big producers.

Present prices of listed stocks provide "ground-floor" investments which can not be expected to be equalled in future. We fully believe that present market leaders will show an appreciable increase in share values.

Toronto Mines Stage Spectacular Advances

Toronto, May 16 (By B.C. Bond)—Spectacular advances in Teck Hughes and Noranda were features here yesterday and to-day.

Teck Hughes soared on buying inspired by reports of developments on the 1,900-foot level.

Noranda moved up to 20.70 yesterday, and then went on up this morning, crossing the 21.00 mark and getting up to 21.35 by noon. The H ore body was said to be much better at the 400-foot level than had been expected.

Jackson Manion is reported to have cross-cut the vein at the 125-foot level. No assays are available yet, but a good grade of ore with a lot of free gold showing has been uncovered.

There is very bullish talk on Sudbury. Three holes are expected to come in to-morrow, one located two miles west, and one three-quarters of a mile east of the present bodies.

It is also reported that Cheny has a length now of 300 feet and some very encouraging reports on White River lead.

STEEL'S LOSS—MOTORS' GAIN, IN BIG PROFITS

Cleveland, May 16.—Despite the lower prices on automobiles last year, motor car company profits were more than twenty-eight per cent on the capital investment.

This great margin, however, is attributed to closer buying of raw material rather than the factors of mass production, clever advertising and high pressure selling.

As a result, it is said, the leading steel producers suffered a decline in their profits until last year their margin was only a little over five per cent of their capital.

This comparison is brought out by John W. Hill in a recent article in The Iron Trade Review, published here.

Hill compiles figures for eleven leading automobile manufacturers, excluding Ford, whose figures are not available, and eleven leading steel producers. Comparing these he finds that the auto industry has been making a profit five times as great as the steel industry.

The reason for this difference, Hill suggests, may be the practice of automobile manufacturers to buy closely and make almost excessive demands on the furnishers of raw materials. Thus, the profits are taken not so much from the consumer, for whom prices have had to be reduced, as from the producer.

Hill quotes an Eastern banker, who says:

"Frequently when an automobile producer reduces the price of its car it expects suppliers to cut their prices in proportion. By this method the automobile company protects or increases its profits, while the supplier, already working at rock-bottom levels, sometimes holds the bag."

The result is that the steel industry is in poor shape, according to Hill.

"Since 1902," he recalls, "iron and steel prices have advanced only twenty-five per cent, while wages in the industry have increased 150 per cent. During the same period prices of general commodities have advanced seventy-seven per cent."

A little more than a decade ago, not more than four per cent of the steel manufactured went into automobiles. But now, with steel bodies in general use, the automobile industry is one of the four great consuming lines of iron and steel, taking fifteen per cent of finished steel production in an average year.

HOWE SOUND EARNINGS RISE; OUTPUT HIGHER

New York, May 16.—Both higher production and higher prices for metals assure that the earnings of Howe Sound Company will be augmented beyond the rate shown for the first quarter. Copper production has been increased from 3,000,000 to 3,500,000 pounds a month, and the price of copper is up from 14c in the first quarter to 14⅝c, and bound higher, and the copper output can be enlarged still further.

The company has acquired the noted Buena Tierra lead-silver property in Chihuahua near its old Potsol and Calera mines, and production will increase here, too. Prices for lead and zinc, and also silver, are higher now. That is why the Howe Sound Company's earnings for the second quarter should be appreciably better than in the first quarter. In that quarter the company earned $1.12 a share after depreciation and taxes on 496,038 shares of stock outstanding.

Britannia, Howe Sound's subsidiary in British Columbia, should produce more than 3,500,000 pounds of copper a month in the second quarter compared with an average of 3,146,200 pounds a month in the first quarter, and 3,000,000 pounds a month for 1927. The company is developing the Buena Tierra property actively and making shipments direct to the Chihuahua smelter from this work. This mine promises to become a regular producer in the near future.

One of the most important recent developments has been at the Potosi mine, where diamond drilling has shown conclusively that areas of sulphide ore extended to depth. As a result the company is preparing for deeper mining at that property.

BIGGER BODIES AT BRITANNIA

At Britannia, much of the development of the Bluff West mine has been completed above the 2,200-foot level and several slopes prepared for mining. This ore body has not been delimited as to length, but crosscutting shows the ore is from 50 to 200 feet wide. The transportation tunnel on the 2,700-foot level has been extended into Bluff West ground for serving this ore body. In driving the tunnel the ore shoot was shown to have a length on the 2,700-foot level of at least 900 feet, while somewhat greater lengths already are opened on some of the levels above without the length being defined as yet.

With the connecting raises completed from the tunnel level, development of the Bluff West ground between the 2,700-foot and the 2,200-foot levels has begun with the ore body already fairly well opened on the 2,400-foot level. This Bluff West ore body is showing a considerably higher grade of ore than the average for the neighboring Fairview and old Bluff ore bodies. The new transportation system is functioning satisfactorily and should result in appreciable lowering of the cost of handling the ore at Britannia.

The Victoria ore body at Britannia, if anything, is showing slightly higher grade at depth than on the levels above. Work of preparing the 2,500-foot level is well along and opening up of the 2,650-foot level of the Victoria has started. With development of this level under way, sinking of the shaft another 150 feet will commence soon.

The 2,500-foot level has opened up even better than the 2,350-foot level, which was heretofore the best level of the Victoria, and the 2,650-foot level promises to be as good as the 2,500. Capacity of the Britannia mill, which was designed to treat from 2,000 to 2,500 tons a day, has been brought up to 5,000 tons a day by installing additional grinding and flotation equipment.

Not only has diamond drilling shown that the sulphide areas extend to depth at El Potosi mine in Chihuahua, but development during the past year has added greatly to ore areas being worked on present levels. To permit development down to a depth of 3,000 feet, the company is installing the most modern type of double-drum electric hoist capable of handling 3½ tons or ore from that depth. Deepest level at present is the 1,900-foot. Capacity of the company's mill for serving El Potosi and Calera by end of 1927 had been worked up until 1,000 tons of ore a day were being treated. At present the company is milling between 1,150 and 1,200 tons of ore a day.

As a result of this increase in the rate of operations at Britannia and in Mexico, Howe Sound's earnings for the second quarter should be appreciably better than for the first quarter, and the company, with development in all properties proceeding favorably, should be in a position to increase its output still further.

HIS BANK TO AID SMALL BORROWERS

Tribute to the integrity and character of the average individual was paid by Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York, when Mitchell announced a new policy of his bank of making small loans to persons of moderate means at six per cent annual interest, the loans to be repaid in easy installments.

The plan will have far-reaching social importance, it is believed, if bankers generally adopt it.

The National City will charge small borrowers no fee of any kind except the six per cent interest charge. Two indorsements will be required on notes which will be paid off through weekly or monthly deposits in a savings account.

"While it is not our purpose to encourage anyone to borrow except under stress of circumstances, we have faith that loans so made can and will be paid where incident thereto the spirit of thrift can be kept alive," said Mitchell.

Most so-called "remedial loan" banking concerns heretofore in operation have charged interest ranging from twenty per cent up.

New Appointment Plans Are Urged

Ottawa, May 16.—Appointment of sheriffs, registrars or other provincial officers as returning officers in Federal elections was recommended to the House committee on privileges yesterday by Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, when the committee continued its investigation of the polling in the constituency of Athabaska, Alberta, in the Federal general election of 1925.

Counsel (cross-examining prejudiced witness): "I suggest that Mrs. Giggins is anathema to you."

Witness: "Then you suggest wrong. It's only my friends I calls by their Christian names!"

CHAPTER I

"Good morning, Aunt Flora." Vera Victoria Cameron raised her glass-shielded eyes from the morning paper which she had been reading as she ate her breakfast, and allowed them to rest with gravity and forbearance upon her pretty but slightly time-worn aunt, who was trailing pink chiffon draperies into the small dining-room of the apartment which Mrs. Cartwright shared, because of the temporary loneliness, with her young niece.

Good morning, Vee-Vee," Flora Cartwright sighed, laying a delicate, highly manicured hand against her tired blue eyes. "But do you mind if I ask you not to use that brisk, cheerful, business-like voice this morning? It is really more than I can bear, darling. What are you eating? Prunes? Coddled eggs? Whole wheat toast? It is positively amazing to me that you can stand the sight of so much food so early in the morning."

"It is a quarter past eight, Aunt Flora—" Vera Cameron began, a flush rising from her throat to her brow, against which flat wide braids of nice but uninteresting brown hair lay like a crown of virtue. Behind the sparkling lenses of her horn-rim spectacles her eyes, their color disguised by the amber tint of the glasses, filled with treacherous tears.

"Oh, good heavens, child, spare me!" Flora Cartwright pleaded, then broke into an amused, indulgent chuckle. "I know the whole story! You've been up since seven o'clock. You woke exactly on the dot, sprang right out of bed, did calisthenics for exactly fifteen minutes, took an ice-cold shower, brushed that indecently and unfashionably long brown hair of yours exactly one hundred strokes of a stiff-bristled brush, timed yourself while you plaited it, gave yourself a ten-minute manicure, dressed yourself in what the 'Business Woman's Magazine' prescribes as a suitable costume for the efficient young secretary, made your bed, straightened your room to apple-pie order, cooked your breakfast, and ate it—all on schedule to the half minute. You are a great trial to me, Vee-Vee," she sighed humorously. "But I hope you made me some good strong coffee and squoze a couple of oranges into a glass and set it in a bowl of cracked ice for me. I could forgive you anything—even for being the world's most efficient and perfect private secretary—if you did those two little things for me."

Vera Cameron's grave, unrouged mouth twitched into a half-smile as she rose and walked toward the kitchenette. Not even the severe lines of her black serge suit, the skirt of which reached halfway to her modest black silk ankles, could conceal the natural youth and buoyancy and slenderness of her tall body.

"Thank you, darling," Flora Cameron sighed gratefully, when her niece set coffee, cream, and a glass of orange juice before her. "Has the mail come yet? Wild horses couldn't drag me out of bed at this ungodly hour if it were not the first of the month."

"Not yet," Vera answered briefly, her eyes straying again to the morning paper as she raised her cup of tea to her lips.

"I can never make up my mind whether to hate the first of the month or adore it," Flora Cartwright remarked, her voice becoming chatily cheerful as the hot coffee took effect. "The bundle of bills—I'm sure I can't possibly spend as much as the shops charge me with—offset by one long, slim legal envelope with my alimony check in it. Be very sure, my darling, that the man you marry has no conscientious objections to paying alimony. Men are becoming so—so materialistic these days."

"My suitors are not so numerous that I have reached the necessity of classifying them according to whether they will or will not pay alimony," Vera Cameron retorted witheringly. "And I might add that I should never dream of asking alimony if my marriage—purely problematical as that event is—should prove disastrous."

"Oh, my lord!" Flora Cartwright groaned, then laughed a throaty, delicious chuckle. "Do you talk to your boss like that, darling? I should think the poor dear would try to arrange to spend all his time playing golf if you do."

"I certainly don't discuss alimony and my matrimonial prospects with my employer," Vera countered sharply, but her mouth, which frequently annoyed her by being childish and soft and sweet unless she held it in very firmly, trembled betrayingly.

"I was referring, Vee-Vee, to the tones of your voice, the exalted character of your rhetoric, and not to the subject matter of your discourse. I assure you—oh, good grief, I'm talking like you! Vee-Vee, if you don't reform, you're going to ruin me! I'm such an imitative monkey. Do you know what I said to Peter Darrow last night, the poor darling?"

"I haven't an idea," Vera said, setting her tea cup down with a clatter. "But I do think you ought to be ashamed of yourself for getting that infant into such a state about you that he hangs around here every night in the week—"

"You exaggerate, dearest," Flora Cartwright grinned at her, her delicate little hand patting the deep, flat marcel wave in her tinted blond hair. "He isn't here every night. Husband number two insists on two evenings a week. If he hadn't been such an awfully poor sport about alimony I'd marry him again. But let me tell you what I said to Peter, the poor dear—"

"There's the postman's ring," Vera interrupted, rising hastily from the table. "I'll bring you your mail, but I'll have to run then, or I'll be late at the office."

When Vera returned with the mail, she carried her black felt hat and her dull-kid black leather handbag and a well-filled brief case in her hands.

"Did my alimony check come?" Flora demanded eagerly. "Oh, thank the god of widows and orphans! Toss those bills to the sideboard, darling. I don't want to spoil my hour of gloating by the sight of them. Nicky isn't such a bad old scout, is he? I wonder if he's happy with that new wife of his? She's a red-head, I hear. Poor Nicky!" she sighed affectionately, as her pretty fingers tore at the long legal envelope. "It's dated April 29," she commented, as she scanned the check. "April 29! That's an anniversary of mine, I'm almost positive! Let's see—did I marry Nicky on April 29 or was it Leon? When a woman has been married four times—oh, must you go, darling? Will you be home for dinner?"

"Why do you ask?" Vera demanded bitterly. "Of course I shall be home for dinner unless I eat at the Automat alone! But if you're going out—"

"Peter wants me to dine with him, go to a theatre, then to a night club," her aunt admitted, sighing a little from last night's weariness, but there was a tender smile on her lips—lips that her niece had never seen without rouge. "Bring home one of the young men from the office and go out with us, darling. It would do you good."

"I'm afraid my employers wouldn't agree with you that it does a secretary good to dance till all hours of the night," Vera retorted, but her aunt understood the blush that swept over Vera's smooth, freckled cheeks to which rouge was a stranger. If Vera could conceivably so far forget herself as to ask one of her fellow workers to spend an evening with her, he would almost certainly refuse the invitation.

"Besides," Vera added, "I have every hope of stepping into a promotion today. Gladys Holmes, who has been secretary to Mr. Canfield, the president, for more than a year, left Saturday to be married, and I expect to get her position. The job pays fifty a week, ten more than I'm getting now."

"You say her name was Gladys?" Mrs. Cartwright mused. "Was she a Gladys sort of person, dear? A cuddly little blonde, perhaps."

"She is very pretty—chestnut hair and blue eyes," Vera admitted. "But I don't see what that has to do with it—"

"Don't you, darling? I'm afraid you may find out. But don't mind me. After all, I'm only a pretty parasite, as you've so often reminded me, dear—a shameless, useless creature who has buried two husbands and divorced two others. I hope you get the job, and that you spend the extra ten a week on peach-colored silk underwear for the good of your soul."

"You know I'm trying to save money—" Vera began resentfully, but her eyes betrayed her for an instant by becoming misty.

"And succeeding nobly," her aunt reminded her, laughing. "You must have at least three thousand dollars saved toward your retirement into the old ladies' home, and you're still only twenty-four years old. My dear, when I was twenty-four I had buried my first husband and divorced my second—and was engaged to my third, if memory serves me rightly. And I was handicapped by this horrible little nose—"she tapped the maligned feature with a scornful forefinger. "If I had had a nose like yours, that is absolutely wasted on you, because you refuse to make the most of it—"

"Oh, you quit picking on me, Aunt Flora!"

"And your mouth, if you'd listen to reason and put just a tiny touch of lip rouge on it, would be absolutely the most kissable I've ever seen—" her aunt's laughing drawl followed the girl as she fled from the dining-room.

Vera Cameron ran gracefully and fleetly across Riverside Drive, swung to the steps of a great lumbering green bus, climbed up the winding staircase and found a seat beside a young man, who glanced up hopefully from his paper.

There was no reason, Vera told herself angrily, why she should blush like an idiotic school girl or like a sex-starved old maid, just because an anemic youth who probably made less than she did dropped his seeking eyes hastily to his newspaper. If he had dared to try to flirt with her she would have squelched him. But would she? She was startled at the question which elbowed its impudent way through the well-trained grooves of her mind. Anyone would think she was repulsive, the way that odious young man had looked her over and declined her—

But—she sighed and settled back into her seat resignedly—she did have to wear glasses, and she was freckle-faced, and her hair was mousy. So the only thing left for her to do was to be the most efficient secretary in the Peach Bloom Cosmetics Company's offices. Ever since she had graduated from business college when she was nineteen, she had devoted herself with deep seriousness to making herself a business success. She had held positions in three companies, had started work at fifteen dollars a week and was now getting forty. To-day she would be promoted to fifty a week.

From fifteen to fifty dollars a week in five years had not been easy, and she had not always been happy, but—she was succeeding. She had taken business so very seriously. She had been a member of a business woman's club for four years, had subscribed to all the business women's magazines and to all the other magazines which were designed to fit earnest young workers for bigger and better things.

She had been taking an extension course in chemistry, the better to understand the business of the Peach Bloom Cosmetics Company. She had watched her health, knowing that health meant efficiency. She walked the prescribed hour a day, did setting-up exercises night and morning with religious regularity, ate foods that contained the largest percentage of vitamins, went to bed early and rose early. She had repressed her desires for pretty and faddish clothes with the sternness of a nun and had dressed according to the laws laid down by the business women's magazine. She did not waste her time at the office in gossip and in making up her face in the girls' rest room. She did not watch the clock, thought nothing of working overtime, had the interest of her firm at heart always—

A pair of large, round tears welled out of her eyes and sliped down her cheeks. The moisture misted her glasses, so that she had to fumble helplessly for a handkerchief. What in the world was the matter with her? Was she getting an attack of Spring fever? She had learned to hate Spring—the season of gay, fluttery dresses, which the other girls shamelessly wore to the office, the season of sweethearts cooing at each other on the green iron benches all up and down Riverside Drive park.

Postman (absently): "Yes, at 199 High Street, there's a bull-terrier nearly had my trousers many a time."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Lulu's Lollypop

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was about to hop away from his hollow stump bungalow to go and look for an adventure, he met Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman, skipping along with a basket on his paw.

"Where are you going?" asked Mr. Longears.

"To the store to get some lettuce pie for Aunt Lettie," bleated Uncle Butter.

"Haven't you time to come adventuring with me?" invited Uncle Wiggily.

"Thank you, no!" bleated the goat. "But before you go adventuring you had better hop over to the duck pond to see what's the matter."

"Why, is anything the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Have any of the Wibblewobble ducks fallen in the water?"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Butter. "That's funny! A duck falling in the water! What harm would that do? No, it must be worse than that!"

"Then I'll go see if I can help before I start adventuring," said Uncle Wiggily, and away he hopped while Uncle Butter went to the store.

"Hadn't you better stay and watch your green grass, so nobody will walk on it?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as she saw Mr. Longears going away. "Those puppy dogs may play tag on it again."

"Not since I had the Tramp Dog put up the four puzzle signs," chuckled

"There, there! Don't cry," said Uncle Wiggily.

Mr. Longears. "They are so mysterious, the animal boys and girls not knowing what they say, that they'll keep off my grass."

"Well, what do those signs say?" asked the muskrat lady.

"Oh, I see you!" answered Mr. Longears.

"Silly! Of course you see me! Don't you suppose I know that?" laughed Nurse Jane. "I asked you what the signs said."

"That's what they say," chuckled Mr. Longears. "There are the letters O-I-C-U—Oh, I see you! Ha! Ha!"

"Oh, now I see," laughed Nurse Jane. "Well, I'm glad you found some way to keep the boys and girls off the grass until it gets a chance to grow strong. Now where are you going?" she asked, for Mr. Longears started to hop away.

"Something has happened over at the duck pond," was the answer. "Uncle Butter bleated to me that there was trouble as he came past. I'll go see what it is."

Long before Uncle Wiggily reached the duck pond he heard a loud quack-

CUT-OUT PUZZLE.

ing and crying. And when he came within sight of the place he saw Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble swimming around very fast.

"What's the matter?" asked Mr. Longears. "Are you trying to catch some snails before you go to school, or is a hawk coming after you?"

"Neither one!" sobbed Lulu and she was quacking and crying the hardest. "But I dropped my lollypop in the pond just as I was going to school, and now I can't find it, and it was such a lovely lollypop all flavored with watercress and corn meal and—Oh, dear! Boo hoo!"

"There, there! Don't cry," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "The handle of your lollypop is made of wood, and wood floats in the water, though candy sinks. So I think we'll find your lollypop, Lulu, by looking for the floating wooden handle. I'll hop along the shore and look while you ducks swim around in the water and look."

In this way it did not take long to find Lulu's lollypop where it had floated down and was caught in a mass of duck weed. The little quacking child rescued her candy and then she and her brother and sister were hurrying off to school when Uncle Wiggily said: "Oh, Lulu! Your eyes are all red from crying. I must make you smile before you go to class. Here, look at this!" With a stick, Uncle Wiggily quickly drew in the wet sand a picture. But it was cut apart, and looked so funny that Lulu dried her eyes and laughed. "Can you tell me whose picture that is when the pieces are put together?" asked Mr. Longears.

And that is a puzzle for you, also. So the laughing ducks, after guessing the name of the picture, hurried to school. And if the rubber ball doesn't bounce up and bang the eye of the needle I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Wolf's door.

House Agent: "By the way, sir, I suppose you can let us have a banker's reference? Just a formality, you know."

Client: "Well, I could; but I'm afraid it would only disappoint you."

THOMAS TIBBLES DIES IN OMAHA

Omaha, Neb., May 16.—Preacher, fighter, writer and once candidate for the Vice-presidency of the United States, "Old Tom" Tibbles died here yesterday.

A six-year-old runaway from his home in Washington County, Ohio, in 1846, Thomas Henry Tibbles was picked up by an immigration train en route to Kansas. Hardly was he in his teens until he became an ardent member of the Anti-slavery Party. Before he was sixteen he was sentenced to be hanged as an abolitionist and he escaped under a rain of bullets from his captors.

Later, in the Civil War, Tibbles actually was hanged by members of the band of the famous raider Quantrail. He was left swinging from a tree, from which, however, he was cut down by friends who arrived at the climax of the hanging bee.

At sixteen Tibbles was a friend and fellow fighter with John Brown.

Then came more sad days. After the war Tibbles completed his education and was ordained a Methodist minister.

WAS CANDIDATE

Settling in Omaha, he became editor of The Omaha World-Herald. In 1904 he was the Populists' candidate for Vice-president of the United States.

After the death of his first wife Tibbles married the famous "Bright Eyes," beautiful Indian princess of the Ponca tribe. "Bright Eyes" was immortalized by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow as "Minnehaha" in "Hiawatha."

Tibbles leaves a widow, who was his third wife, and two daughters.

Many can Make but few can Invest money wisely

A Truth That Should Be Emphasized by Accredited Financial Guides

NOWADAYS great emphasis is being placed on Economy. The people are urged to Save—save for the "rainy day," save for old age.

This is good advice.

But what counts, in personal or general prosperity, is the WISE INVESTMENT of the money saved.

Too often the precious savings of years are lost in a few minutes. The beguiling story of unscrupulous salesmen, the signing of a cheque—and your hard-earned savings are only a memory, and a bitter memory at that.

IT is to the advantage of reputable financial houses and institutions to instruct the people in principles of sound investment and to advertise regularly their offerings of high-grade securities.

The public wants to know, as it never did before, how to invest money where it will be safe, and what bonds and stocks are available for the purpose.

And this information can be given most effectively through the advertising columns of THE DAILY NEWSPAPERS OF CANADA.

THE daily Newspapers reach all the people and in an intimate way. Ninety-seven of them, with a combined circulation of over 1,900,000 copies a day—more than one for every literate family in the Dominion—afford the quickest, easiest and cheapest means for reaching every man and woman in the whole country.

The Savings Banks contain over $2,000,000,000—almost the total amount of our national debt—which is available for investment in high-grade securities and which is in danger of being dissipated if it is not. The Great War taught all classes of people the meaning and value of Government Bonds. Their interest in sound investments is easily aroused.

THE advertising of service available through banks and the best financial houses is in the public interest. Those who recognize this fact, and use the power and influence which the Daily Newspapers offer, will find that substantial profits follow close upon the heels of a wide and dignified publicity.

Book of Knowledge

Sketches by Bessey. Synopsis by Braucher.

WATER WHEELS

The huge water wheel pictured above, at Hamah, in northern Syria, is 75 feet in diameter and the largest in the world. It runs day and night, raising water in buckets to the arched stone aqueduct for irrigation purposes. In ancient times the town was called Hamath and was the capital of a Syrian kingdom which the kingdom of Israel touched in Solomon's time.

A peasant in India is shown here raising water by an arrangement known in that country as a denkli.

In the Japanese rice fields much of the irrigation is carried on by means of these treadmill water-raisers.

Sometimes animal power is used to raise water, oxen being driven down an incline here to raise water from a river. Parts of India are nearly rainless and there can be no cultivation without irrigation. Rice, a very valuable crop, is almost a water plant and needs a constant supply passing over it.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1928

Good luck attends this day, according to astrology which finds the dominant planetary aspects distinctly benefic.

The rule is exceedingly promising to business and presages tremendous activity throughout the Summer.

The seers point out that there is a great demand for trained workers everywhere, but little chance for those who have not obtained expertness in special vocations.

It is foretold that children will be guided from the cradle to maturity with the main object of fitting them for their own best expression of talent.

Oil again is subject to the most propitious sway that seems to indicate greatly increased demands for it.

Through a new company that will operate by extending radio connections over the whole world America is to gain greatly in power.

This should be a fortunate day for those who seek employment, and the chances should be good for obtaining, just the right places.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of great prosperity.

The stars seem to shine on the successful with unusual brilliance to-day, seeming to aid those who occupy assured positions.

Children born on this day may be expected to rise in any profession or business they follow. Many subjects of this sign gain fame.

TO ASK FOR YEARLY GRANT

District Council of Canadian Legion Holds Meeting in City

Recommendation that estimates to be submitted to the Federal Government for the purpose of providing for ex-soldiers' claims should provide for a yearly grant to the Dominion Executive Council of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League, was made by the special committee, according to a report read last night at the meeting of the district council of the Canadian Legion held in the Pro Patria branch. Comrade J. J. Blair acted as chairman of the meeting.

In order to provide for increased representation on the provincial council the delegates divided the zone which included the whole of the Island south of Nanaimo, in two. Comrade J. D. Groves of the Cowichan branch will have charge of Cowichan district and the Island, and Comrade W. G. Stone will handle Victoria and district. The two zones will combine for district meetings.

It was decided to close the Dr. Wace Solarium fund on June 1, and to request all ex-service men and organizations that wish to subscribe to send their remittances to the secretary of any branch of the Canadian Legion.

The following delegates were present at the meeting: Cowichan, W. H. Purver, A. J. Castle, M. A. Kinch, J. D. Groves; North Saanich, T. M. Hughes, T. G. Corey-Wood, A. Calvert; Sooke, P. H. Hewer, S. E. Stacey; Britannia branch, J. J. Blair, F. D. Hickman; T.B. Section, P. A. Stock, R. W. Cornall; Naval Veterans, G. S. Chapell, H. Smith; Pro Patria branch, H. P. Thorpe, H. W. Hart, W. G. Stone.

SCULPTOR OF MONTENEGRO IS VISITOR TO CITY

An interesting visitor to the city is Janko Brajovich, sculptor of Montenegro and an exile from his native land, whose mission to British Columbia is to create a portrait bust of Brig.-Gen. G. F. Burnham of Halcyon Springs, in recognition of his services to Montenegro through the White Cross.

One of the most recent commissions of Mr. Brajovich was to execute a bust of Sir Woodman Burbidge, a brother of H. E. Burbidge, a resident of this district and whose name is familiarly associated with the Hudson's Bay Company in the West.

Mr. Brajovich is a zealous advocate of intervention to restore Montenegro to the position the country held before annexation by Serbia.

"MISS VICTORIA," 1928

IRENE PILKINGTON

the dimpled little sixteen-year-old cinderella, who by more than two to one was chosen as "Miss Victoria" at the bathing beauty contest last week. Before leaving for her tour of the prairie cities to compete for the title of "Miss Canada," she will make her final public appearance in both bathing suit and new Paris gown at the two shows at the Dominion Theatre to-night, when the general prize-giving to all the bathing beauties will take place. If "Miss Victoria" wins the title of "Miss Canada," she will be sent to represent this country at the International beauty finals at Galveston.

LUTHERAN SYNOD SESSIONS START

Seventy Delegates in Attendance at Church Conference Here

With an attendance of seventy delegates, representing various districts in the synod's territory in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, the twenty-eighth conference of the Pacific Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America opened here last night. Sessions are being held in the Grace English Lutheran Church, Blanshard Street.

The service last night was conducted by Rev. W. J. Eck of the Dalles, Oregon, and Prof. P. W. H. Frederick, D.D., who has been president of the synod for many years and also superintendent of missions, was the evening preacher.

Dr. Frederick affirmed the inadequacy of good government, culture and scientific accomplishment to satisfy the soul of man, speaking from the sixth chapter of John's gospel, sixty-eighth verse. He appealed to the congregation to hold fast to the gospel and to trust in Christ alone as the Saviour of the world.

Following the administration of the Lord's Supper, committees were appointed as follows: Credentials, Revs. H. I. Kohler, L. Awes, H. R. Allan, and Harry Scott and R. M. Bonsen; reference and counsel, Revs. W. E. Brinkman, L. Deck, W. I. Eck and A. Engeset.

Business sessions of the conference continued to-day and will conclude Friday.

"I contend," said counsel for the defence, "that a tomato, however well aimed, could not have caused a black eye."

"But it was in a tin, sir," replied the witness.

AT THE THEATRES

NEW ORLEANS STORY, "THE LOVE MART," SHOWING AT VARIETY

LIONEL BARRYMORE IN "BODY AND SOUL" NOW AT COLUMBIA

Critics have termed Lionel Barrymore's portrayal of the role of Dr. Leyden, in "Body and Soul," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now playing at the Columbia Theatre, one of the grtatest characterizations of the dramatic field. This noted actor's work in this vividly colorful picture will live among the finest bits of acting the screen has ever known.

The story is based on Katharine Newlin's Burt's "best seller," "The Branding Iron," and is a romantic tale of love in the Swiss Alps.

"SECOND TO NONE," ROMANCE OF NAVY, NOW AT COLISEUM

The naval film, "Second to None," a romance of the Royal Navy, which is at the Coliseum Theatre, is from a story by the naval writer, "Bartimeus," and all the warship scenes, above and below decks are real. They were taken on board H.M.S. Tiger, battlecruiser, H.M.S. Champion, cruiser; H.M.S. Tara and H.M.S. Tarpon, destroyers.

One scene was actually taken in the boiler-room of one of the ships, into which the producer, players, cameramen and electricians had to lower themselves through double manholes. Miss Dinah Shurey, under whose supervision the film was made, was among the people who went down.

The players in the film include Moore Marriott, Mickey Brantford, Gracie Vicat, Ian Fleming, Daisy Campbell, Aggie Brantford, Benita Hume, Tom Coventry, A. B. Imeson, Johnny Butt and Alf Goddard.

A special prologue for the picture, "Second to None" by members of the Navy League of Canada, Victoria branch, assisted by Frederick Sheppard, Vancouver's popular Scotch tenor, will be enacted on the stage at 9 o'clock each night, and at the two matinees, Wednesday and Saturday.

Special scenery and effects are in evidence to give the correct naval atmosphere.

ARMY LIFE HUMOR SHOWN BY DOUGHBOY IN DOMINION STORY

William Boyd, star of "Two Arabian Knights," post-war comedy of two American soldiers, at the Dominion Theatre, served in the army himself, though he was so young he still possessed a spirit of boyish mischief.

Rolling out to reveille on cold Winter mornings was no more popular with Boyd than with any soldier; so, in order to get an extra moment of sleep, he devised a plan of putting on leggins, shoes and overcoat only. To outward appearance he was fully clothed and could finish the job after formation. The rest of the company thought it was a good idea, too. It was, too—until one day.

The captain decided to give the company some calisthenics and marched them to the edge of camp, close to several residences. He flashed in anger when his order to remove overcoats was ignored. He roared a repetition of it and his men responded. In a second he had an army correctly attired so far as they went, but they only went as far as the army underwear.

The overcoats were restored in a hurry and that company never did run out of dish washers thereafter!

Concert by Westminster Glee Singers Will Be Given in This City

Singers of the most beautiful of English folk songs, glees, madrigals, and other arrangements, the Westminster Glee Singers reach Canada on their Empire tour with a long line of successes to their credit. They come here with the patronage of His Excellency the Governor-General and of His Grace Archbishop Matheson, Primate of all Canada. In their singing they reach heights no other choir has attained—supreme in their own field, they have been forced to continue a tour that has already covered most of the Empire.

In two years these singers have toured Australia, New Zealand and India. They have given a total of 625 concerts, and they are now on their way pack to Australia, through Canada.

Their repertoire is long, and it is unique. They have 150 selections to choose from—sacred and secular music. They are equally at home in both.

Their singing is marked by perfect balance of voices, beauty of expression, and absolute precision and co-ordination. Their sonority and splendor of tone, particularly in unaccompanied numbers, recall the finest singing in old English cathedrals. Masters of cathedral singing, these vocalists excel in secular selections. The fine old forms of English music are their chief appeal.

The adult artists include Edward Branscombe, the director, for ten years tenor soloist at Westminster Abbey; Donald Reid, solo alto, St. Paul's Cathedral; Wilfrid Kearton, originally tenor singer at Westminster Abbey, and later tenor soloist at St. George's, Windsor, and soloists selected from other famous cathedrals.

They are assured of success when they appear here at the Royal Victoria Theatre on June 1 and June 2. The Gyro Club is to be congratulated for its interest in good music and its success in arranging the local appearance of these singers. ***

DOLORES COSTELLO AS SOUTHERN BELLE IN PLAYHOUSE PICTURE

Dolores Costello, star of Warner Bros.' "Heart of Maryland," at the Playhouse Theatre to-day, has never been so appealingly beautiful as in the role of Maryland Calvert—the girl, who, while passionately loving the South, found her heart divided against itself in love for a soldier of the North.

This exciting and glamorous story of Civil War days has had numerous revivals since it won fame for Mrs. Leslie Carter thirty years ago, and always successful ones.

Warner Bros. have given it marvelous settings and a cast which includes many of the most celebrated names of of the day. Among the great characterizations are Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, General Robert E. Lee and General Grant. Bacon directed.

CAPITOL'S PICTURE FEATURES MANY STARS IN JOHN FOX STORY

One of the greatest aggregations of character actors ever gathered together for a single picture is seen in First National's "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," at the Capitol Theatre this week.

This is the picturization of John Fox Jr.'s great story of the Kentucky Mountains. Richard Barthelmess is starred in the title role, and the people of the story are typical mountaineers of the Civil War days. Only in Hollywood could such a cast be gathered together.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" will always be known as one of Barthelmess's greatest pictures, and its coming was awaited with keen interest by theatre-goers in this city.
